Business Leaders Call For Balanced Federal Budget

CONFERENCE RESOLUTIONS ARE ADOPTED

Return of Relief Burden to States As Soon As Possible Urged By Body

DEVELOP INDUSTRIES

Suggests That Committee Be Named to Study Unemployment Insurance

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Dec. 19.—(UP)—The joint conference of American business leaders today called for a balanced federal budget and return of the relief burden to states as soon as possible.

Federal public works to provide emergency jobs, the business leaders said, "invites waste and indefinitely defers a balance in the budget."

The leaders of the country's industry and finance, meeting to formulate a joint program to lay before the administration, summarized their findings in 2,000 words of resolutions adopted late today.

They reported "the most effective solution of the problem of unemployment and relief is the creation of confidence between industry and the government that business can proceed with plans to develop new industries, to enlarge existing enterprises and to place private capital in the investment field."

Asserting there is ample work to be done to employ all the labor and capital now idle, the conference said "it is inconceivable that a way will not be found to release our halting national energies."

"The balancing of the federal budget will provide confidence,"

COUNTY'S LIQUOR TAX IS $29,537

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 19.—(UP)—Liquor license fees totaling $2,032,852.74 were collected by the state from the time repeal was effective, Dec. 5, 1933, until Nov. 1, 1934, the state board of equalization reported today.

Of the total, Orange county liquor establishments paid $29,537.

In a summary showing for what purposes the funds were used the board reported liquor control expenses of $546,629, with an additional $55,000 withheld "for future expense."

On the basis of an allocation of 60 per cent for counties and 40 per cent for the state general fund, the local governments received $780,018.60 on April 1, 1934, and the general fund, $519,844.29, for a total of $1,299,862.89.

Since that time $78,719.14 was distributed to the cities and counties, and an additional $52,647.77 went into the general fund, the report revealed.

HEART ATTACK ENDS LIFE OF EUGENE BLACK

Former Governor of Reserve Board Stricken at Home in Atlanta

ATLANTA, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Eugene R. Black, liaison man between the Roosevelt administration and the nation's bankers and former governor of the Federal Reserve Board, died of a heart attack at his home today. He was 61.

Governor Black had been indisposed for about three days, but he and members of his family did not think the illness was serious. Last night, however, a physician was called. About 4:30 a. m. today he suffered a heart attack which proved fatal a half hour later.

Starting his career as an attorney in Atlanta, he entered the banking business on July 1, 1921, when he was elected president of the Atlanta Trust company.

His fame soon became well known as a banker, and he was elected governor of the Atlanta Reserve bank on January 1, 1928.

During the present administration, President Roosevelt relied upon his judgment often on banking matters, and he became governor of the Federal Reserve Board early in 1933. He was given a leave of absence as governor of the Atlanta Reserve.

For 15 months he has prevailed upon by President Roosevelt to remain in Washington, but finally on August 16, 1934, he returned to Atlanta to resume his duties at the Federal Reserve bank here.

Governor Black was more content to serve the government in his home town.

Besides serving as governor of the Atlanta bank, he acted as liaison man between the Roosevelt administration and bankers of the country. This necessitated

LATE NEWS FLASHES

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—(UP)—A tie-up between the asserted "influence of special prosecutor Clyde Shoenberger and the bias of Judge Fletcher Bowron" brought to bear on the grand jury, it was charged by attorneys for District Attorney Buron Fitts today in the battle to set aside the perjury indictment of Fitts and his sister, Bertha Gregory.

SHELBYVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 19.—(UP)—National guardsmen spiritedly attacking a white girl, from the court house here shortly after 3 p. m. today following the death of three men and wounding of several others when the soldiers fired into a mob that made three charges to gain possession of the prisoner.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Senate investigators said today that income tax returns of Bernard M. Baruch while a member of the war industries board in 1918 and 1919 had been "destroyed" by the internal revenue bureau.

Retail Dry Goods Sales On Increase

National Association Reports Business Best Since Year 1931

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(UP)—The National Retail Dry Goods association today announced its members in 70 cities had reported their sales between November 30 and December 15 increased an average of 16 per cent over the same period last year.

The survey showed the best holiday trade since 1931. Department stores of the southwest registered the greatest gain, 24 per cent over the half-month period of 1933. The south was next, with 20.8 per cent. The middle west gained 17 per cent; the Pacific coast, 16 per cent; middle Atlantic states, 11.5 per cent, and New England, 10 per cent.

Every city of the 70 showed a gain, but there was a wide variance of increase, from 2 per cent in Birmingham, N. Y., to 20.5 per cent in Dallas, Tex.

Store managers in every section, the association reported, said customers were in better shopping mood and apparently had more money to spend.

Among key cities, the association announced percentage gains were: New York, 11 per cent; Philadelphia, 12; Pittsburgh, 7.5; Chicago, 17.5; Baltimore, 13; Cincinnati, 19; Columbus, 10; Davenport, 10; Detroit, 12.8; Little Rock, 16.5; Youngstown, 18; Washington, 14.5; Denver, 16; Sacramento, 10; San Francisco, 6.5; Los Angeles, 11.

POSSES SEARCH FOR WOMAN AT CARMEL

CARMEL, Cal., Dec. 19.—(UP)—With police dogs and expert trackers, sheriff's posses searched the woodlands along the seacoast today for Mrs. Elliot Bokke Schaffer, prominent Carmel and Chicago resident missing from her home here.

Her husband, Joseph H. Schaffer, is vice president and treasurer of the Hart Schaffer and Marx firm, nationally known clothing manufacturers.

She wore a fur coat over a flimsy nightdress and had a pair of bedroom slippers on her feet, a maid said.

Falling in a private search, the household appealed to Sheriff Carl Abbott of Monterey county. He obtained the trained police dogs of the Berkeley police department and enlisted Boy Scouts, Legionnaires and others to assist.

BRITISH WOMAN IS HANGED FOR MURDER

HULL, England, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Mrs. Ethel Lillie Major was hanged today for poisoning her husband.

Men and women knelt on the sidewalk outside Hull Prison praying that King George would intervene to save her.

She was the first woman executed in England in eight years. Mrs. Major died despite a strong jury recommendation to mercy and a direct appeal to the king and queen, telegraphed by the lord mayor in the early hours of this morning.

CLAIMS ROOSEVELT GREAT PHYSICALLY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(UP)—President Roosevelt's health today is just as good or better than when he entered the White House in March, 1933, White House physicians reported.

Evaluation of the president showed that he was in perfect condition for the long congressional grind ahead. Dr. Ross T. McIntyre, White House physician, said the president's weight was almost exactly what it should be, about 182 pounds.

"Mr. Roosevelt is in splendid condition," he said.

CHARGES FEDERAL CONTROL OF PRESS IN TIME OF WAR POSSIBLE IF BILL PASSES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Sen. Bennett Champ Clark, D., Mo., charged today at the Senate munitions inquiry that "absolute federal control" of the press was "possible" under legislation prepared by the war department for submission to Congress in the event this country became involved in another war.

He said any president might impose a press censorship by declaring printers' ink and white paper to be essential wartime commodities and requiring them to be licensed.

"Isn't that a fact?" he asked Col. C. T. Harris, war department planning officer.

"If the press is considered a material resource of the nation, that would be true," Harris said. The army officer said newspapers might be deprived of their materials under licensing provision of the proposed legislation.

"This would be writing a blank check for the president," Clark said.

"It is my opinion," said Harris.

HEROIC RESCUE SAVES CREW OF SINKING CRAFT

All Aboard Freighter Are Saved After Four Hour Battle in Storm

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press) BOARD U. S. S. New York, at Sea, Dec. 19.—(UP)—A lifeboat manned by volunteers from this Hamburg-American liner snatched 16 members of the crew of the sinking freighter Sisto from death early today.

While a gale piled up mountainous seas, the lifeboat, propelled by two oarsmen, fought four hours to get to the Sisto, listing heavily and in sinking condition. Time after time it seemed about to crash against the steel deck of the freighter.

Twenty times or more, the lifeboat was within ten feet of the Sisto. Sixteen times a man had jumped from the freighter into the open sea and was carried by waves within reach of the lifeboat's crew and was hauled to safety.

Despite the heavy seas, the gale, and rain that changed to snow during the rescue, not a man was lost or injured. The 16 from the Sisto were semi-hysterical when the lifeboat was hoisted up the side of this liner. Their ship had been in sinking condition for almost 36 hours and each minute they expected to be hurled into the turbulent seas. All day yesterday they desperately watched efforts of the Tanker Moholl to effect a rescue by pumping thousands of gallons of fuel oil into the sea to flatten the waves.

Standing by and forming a lee for the lifeboat was the giant North-German Lloyd liner Europa. Her powerful searchlights illuminated the sea. Other ships standing by were the Cunard-White Star liner Aurania, the liner Gerolstein and the Mobil.

The lifeboat was commanded by Second Officer Weiss of the New York.

DU PONT TELLS ARMS PROBE COMMITTEE FARMERS REAL PROFITEERS IN WORLD WAR

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Lashing back at Senate munitions inquiry charges that powder makers profiteered during the World War, Irenes Du Pont declared yesterday that the real money makers in the world conflict were American farmers.

Du Pont, vice chairman of the board of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company, dropped on the desk of Chairman Nye of North Dakota, insurgent Republican, a group of charts showing steadily decreasing costs of powder made by the Du Ponts during the war, as compared with farm product prices.

"We produced the bulk of the American cannon powder output," he added. "Although these charts show steadily increasing prices during the war for the raw materials, we constantly cut the cost to our government."

Du Pont's charts showed enormous increases in prices paid for wheat, cotton, corn and other commodities, as compared with munitions costs. He continued:

"We were not the profiteers. The profiteers came among the raw material and commodity producers."

With Edwin Pugley, Winchester Repeating Arms company official, on the stand, Senator Clark (Democrat of Missouri) brought out that scrapped parts of army machine guns are bought by gangsters and assembled into serviceable weapons.

Differences Talked Over At Meeting

National Mediation Board Stands Aside As Warring Factions Meet

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Possibility of a wide-spread strike of railroad trainmen and signalmen of the Pacific coast hung precariously today on a narrow margin of 6 1/2 cents, the difference in hourly wages between union demands and a conciliation offer of the Pacific Electric railway.

Union and company representatives went into conference to continue discussion of their differences.

The union reduced their original wage demand from 75 cents per hour to 62 1/2 cents, and yesterday the company, in its first concession, raised its counter offer from 53 to 56 cents.

Meanwhile, the national mediation board, which conducted hearings for more than two weeks, kept in the background, leaving it to the opposing parties to settle the dispute if possible.

Trainmen of the Southern Pacific, Santa Fe and Union Pacific railroads voted authorization for a sympathy strike should Pacific Electric employees walk out.

The strike hinged upon results of a conference between union officials and executives of the interurban line. Should the P. E. again refuse to submit the dispute to arbitration or meet pay demands, the interurban strike was considered inevitable. It would then be up to MacKenzie to decide whether to call on railroad trainmen to join in a sympathy walkout.

In any event, no strike will be called as long as the national mediation board is still in session, MacKenzie said.

Under terms of the railroad labor act, any strike is outlawed as long as the mediation board remains active as a peacemaking agency in negotiations.

Officially, the board is still in session here but withdrew from active negotiations two days ago, leaving union leaders and P. E. officials free to fight out a settlement between themselves.

LIQUOR BY DRINK LEGAL THURSDAY

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 19.—(UP)—Serving and consumption of liquor "by the drink" in California restaurants and hotels will become legal tomorrow for the first time since prohibition became effective.

Provisions of "Proposition No. 2," which liberalized the liquor regulations, became effective at midnight—five days after Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan certified the official vote cast at the November 6 election.

Power to control the liquor situation was vested in the state board of equalization, which held an open meeting today for the purpose of determining what fees should be charged for the privilege of serving intoxicating liquor in public eating places.

The constitutional amendment set a minimum of $250 annually for the liquor license fee, but gave the board unlimited power to scale it upward.

LOUISIANA SOLONS RUSH LONG'S BILLS

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 19.—(UP)—Final enactment of 33 new laws which will set the dictator's crown of Louisiana more securely on Senator Huey P. Long's brow, was just a question of time today.

The senate, which received the bills from the house last night, was prepared to rush them through today, and have them ready for final passage tomorrow.

The legislators expected to be enroute home tomorrow after establishing a new all-time record for speedy legislation.

The senator, arrayed in a brilliant blue suit, pink shirt and accessories, heard himself praised as "Louisiana's greatest benefactor, and one of America's outstanding men," in the senate last night.

NEGOTIATIONS ADJOURN SINE DIE; WORLD NAVY RACE NOW THREATENED

United States and Great Britain Unable to Agree to Demands Made by Japan for Equal Rights

COMMUNIQUE IS MADE PUBLIC

LONDON, Dec. 19.—(UP)—The 1934 naval conference, planned to check the rising tide of increased armaments, came to a fruitless end today when British, Japanese and American delegates voted adjournment of the negotiations sine die. Earlier Japan had formally denounced the Washington naval limitations treaty.

It was significant that adjournment was delayed until Japan had acted.

The final session, in an atmosphere of bitter disappointment, was held at the house of commons, under the chairmanship of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald.

In the eyes of many experts, the failure of the talks and the Japan treaty action threaten a world navy building race.

Glimmer of Hope. In the proceedings here today there was one glimmer of hope. The Japanese chief delegate, Tsubono Matsudaira, placed on record Japan's "desire to set a date for resumption of the conversations," asking that the conference name a day at once.

Japan deferred to the wish of the British and American representatives, however, that the sine die adjournment be taken, and that the initiative for resumption should be left to the discretion of the British government.

The chief question now is whether Japan will make new and concrete limitation proposals.

The conference, in months of labor, had not been able to persuade the Tokyo government either to relinquish its demand for a naval quota more approaching parity with the United States, or to carry out its intention of denouncing the present treaty which provides for a 5-5-3 ratio among the three nations.

Desires Equality. Japan argued that it was merely the "principle" of equality which she desired to see established, and gave verbal—but unwritten—assurances that she would not indulge in any naval race or build up the proposed quota.

Neither the United States nor Great Britain was willing to accept even the principle. Many minor obstacles to an agreement also rose to plague the delegates, and as early as November it was seen that no positive result would come from the conference.

In view of Japan's abrogation of the treaty at Tokyo today, the United States delegates insisted that a holiday must be taken in order to consult with the Washington government. They argued that renunciation of the treaty created an entirely new situation in the Pacific.

The full text of the communique issued by the joint delegations was under the title, "Preliminary Naval Conversations." It reads:

Started in June. "The naval conversations which were started last June, and after a recess have been proceeding since October 23 are agreed by the representatives of all three governments to have served a useful purpose."

"These conversations were initiated under the London naval treaty of 1930. They became broadened in scope, in the light of

ROOSEVELT TO KEEP MESSAGES SHORT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(UP)—President Roosevelt will keep his messages to the congress short and snappy, he revealed today.

Realizing, he said, that the people have been appalled by long-winded documents from public officials, he plans to detail in the opening messages just a general outline of what he hopes congress will promote.

Specific legislative matters, he explained, would be handled as in the past, in special messages.

MRS. MARY RUMSEY CALLED BY DEATH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Services for Mrs. Mary Harriman Rumsey, wealthy socialite and head of the NRA consumers board who died last night, were arranged for 4:30 p. m. today at the "president's church," St. Thomas's.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and many other prominent persons in Washington official and society circles were among those at the bier of the daughter of the famous railroad builder, E. H. Harriman.

F. D. R. PRESSES CAMPAIGN FOR CHEAPER RATES

Asked whether the same situation applied to the railroads, he said it did not because in the general railroad picture there were few holding companies.

In this connection he observed that the railroads' financial difficulties were with their capital structure, brought about through the policy of continually refunding their indebtedness.

Mr. Roosevelt said the attitude of Thomas N. McCarter, head of the Edison Electric Institute, who appealed to him to cease government competition with private utilities, did not represent the attitude of all private concerns.

McCarter, in a lengthy statement that was answered by Frank McNinch, head of the Federal Power commission, declared a grave crisis existed as the result of the government's entry into the field and that a $12,000,000,000 investment through the country was threatened.

BRAZIL OFFERS TO AID IN PEACE MOVE

RIO DE JANEIRO, Dec. 19.—

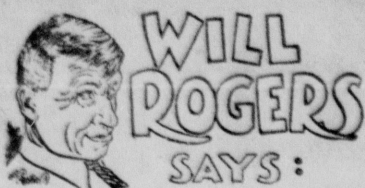

(UP)—The government today advised the league of nations that it would accept membership on the neutral committee intended to supervise the work of consolidating peace in the Gran Chaco after the Bolivian and Paraguayan armies cease fighting.

It was decided also to accept an invitation to a peace conference to be called by the president of Argentina after an armistice is effected.

Brazil's reply is similar to that of the United States, also a non-member of the league. The United States promised friendly co-operation, but reserved freedom of action.

POST OFFICE OPEN ALL DAY SATURDAY

ORANGE, Dec. 19.—The Orange postoffice will be kept open for the accommodation of patrons Saturday afternoon, and a parcel delivery will be made Christmas morning, it has been announced by Mrs. Vera Wetlin, postmistress.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:
BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 19. (To the Editor of The Register:) Read all the papers through today and I can't find a new plan to save the country. Kind of slack season before Xmas, I guess. Boys ain't thinking as pert as they usually are.

That Jugo-Slavia, they just seem to want to fight anyhow; be a good joke on 'em if nobody prevented 'em.

We had heard of all kinds of likely wars between nations, but this one that Mussolini dug up is a new one. Italy versus Ethiopia. That's going a long way for an enemy.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PRIVY COUNCIL IN JAPAN ENDS 5 POWER PACT

The council left to Premier Keisuke Okada and his cabinet the next step, which will be formal notification of Japan's withdrawal. This will be taken before the end of the year. Ambassador Hiroshi Saito will deliver the formal notice to the state department of the United States at Washington. The Christmas holiday period, with many officials absent from their offices, may delay its delivery.

Although renunciation inevitably will end the London parleys, Japan is anxious that a date be set for their resumption before the delegates leave London.

If and when the conversations are resumed, the Japanese expect them to be conducted on a new basis since an entirely new treaty will be required to cover the naval armaments of the three great powers and of Italy and France other signatories to the Washington pact.

The Japanese have "presented their new naval scheme" doing away with the ratio system and proposing that the nations be permitted to build fleets to meet their own security requirements, for defense purposes only. The Japanese plan proposes a common high limit, giving the Japanese equality. The United States opposes this plan and the American opposition deadlocked the London parleys. As Japan, too, refused to recede from its position.

NAVAL PARLEYS COLLAPSE AND CONCLAVE ENDS

proposals and suggestions, subsequently made.

"Every aspect of the naval problems has been discussed between the parties frankly, fully and amicably. It was never the purpose of the preliminary conversations to reach any hard and fast conclusions; its sole purpose was to prepare the ground for future negotiations and agreement.

"The French and Italian governments, who are also signatories to the present naval treaties and who were associated with the discussions during the summer, have been kept informed of all developments."

"Although the three governments represented in these conversations favor the continuation of naval limitations, with such reduction as can be agreed upon by all powers concerned, the principles and methods for achieving this in the future remain to be determined.

Argue To Adjourn
"Now that their respective views have been made known and fully discussed, the conversations have reached a stage when it is felt there should be adjournment. In order that the delegates may resume their personal contact with their governments, and the resulting situation can be fully analyzed and further considered.

"It was therefore agreed to adjourn the conversations.

"The governments concerned will keep in close touch with each other and the other governments which are parties to the London and Washington naval treaties.

"The adjournment will also give his majesty's government and the United Kingdom an opportunity for further consultations with the Dominions' governments."

"It is hoped, in view of the preparatory work accomplished during the conversations which already have taken place, that the situation will so develop as to justify a subsequent meeting as soon as the opportune moment arrives. In that event, the government of the United Kingdom which has initiated the present conversations will take appropriate steps."

Final Communique
The final communique, issued after adjournment at 4:30 p. m. GMT (11:30 a. m. EST) adhered closely to the original British draft, but a few sentences were revised in compliance with wishes of the American delegation.

The statement that the conversations were initiated under the London treaty definitely reflected the United States' desire to emphasize that consideration of the Washington treaty during the two months of conversation was actually extraneous matter and that all talk on that question did not commit any delegation.

The words "every aspect of the naval problems was discussed" was taken to represent Japan's intention to stress that political problems were formally excluded from the conversations.

The assertion that the methods for achieving limitation or reduction of navies remain to be determined coincides with the United States desire to make it clear that the basic issues are left in abeyance.

The final statement that the government will "keep in touch with each other" is a more vague phrasing than the original which explicitly referred to a continuation of the conversations "through diplomatic channels."

TWO KILLED IN EXPLOSION

GRASS VALLEY, Cal., Dec. 19. (UP)—Poisonous gases lurking in the depths of the Empire Gold workings were being cleared out today to permit investigation of an explosion which killed two workmen and made 30 others ill. Clarence Dickerman 23, and Frank Harvey, 27, were victims of the unexplained explosion 3000 feet below the surface.

When Manila Typhoon Paralyzed Shipping

The force of the recent terrific typhoon which struck the Philippine islands is shown in this picture of an inter-island vessel, stripped of its upper-deck structure and piled high on the shore. Many lives were lost and heavy property damage was caused by the high winds. Another storm has since hit part of the islands.

HEART ATTACK ENDS LIFE OF EUGENE BLACK

much traveling over the country in recent months.

Black was known for his dry wit, and was popular in Atlanta society. He frequently played golf with Bobby Jones, his neighbor.

Once, after a disastrous round with Jones and other golfers, he entered the Country club locker and said:

"Well, at least I can take as good a bath as any member of this club."

Enters Banking
Black stepped into the banking world when, as an attorney, he noticed a sign in his home town bank announcing the institution closed at 2 p. m.

"I thought that must be pretty soft, so I took the job," he explained.

He was appointed to the governorship of the federal reserve board in 1933 to succeed Eugene Meyer. For years he had been known as the "trouble shooter" for the board in his post as governor of the Atlanta federal reserve bank.

This year Black retired as head of the federal reserve board and became an unofficial liaison officer between the banks and the federal reserve as well as head of the Atlanta federal reserve bank.

Born in Atlanta
Black was born in Atlanta, Ga., in 1874. Twenty years later he graduated from the University of Georgia, and two years later hung out his law shingle and waited patiently for his first client.

In 1923 he resigned from the practice of law to become president of the Atlanta Trust company—the bank that closed at 2 p. m.

After five years of banking in this institution, Black became governor of the Atlanta federal reserve bank.

Mild mannered and soft spoken, he was widely known for his banking acumen. His two great passions, outside of banking were golf and his grandchildren. With the latter as a nucleus, he organized a neighborhood team and took an active part in their "sand lot" games.

He is survived by his widow, the former Gussie Grady, daughter of the statesman-publisher, Henry W. Grady, and three children—Eugene Jr., Henry Grady Black and Mrs. Walter H. Welborn.

PRESIDENT MOURNS DEATH OF BANKER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(UP)—

President Roosevelt today mourned the death of Eugene R. Black, former governor of the Federal Reserve System, who was the victim of a heart attack in Atlanta, Ga.

Describing Black as one of his old, old friends, the president said his death was a great loss and came as a terrible shock to him.

Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. said:

"I am greatly grieved to learn of the death of my very good friend, Eugene Black. I have long held him in high esteem and counted it a privilege and an honor to work in close association with him during his term as governor of the Federal Reserve Board."

"His affability and unflinching good-will endeared him to all who were associated with him. In directing the wisdom and judgment of the Federal Reserve System during a period of severe stress and uncertainty, he performed services to the nation which will be long remembered and appreciated."

Republicans who are not overly friendly to Merriam waited when Harry Lutgens, San Rafael publisher, was appointed director of institutions. They called Lutgens a Richardson man and claimed Merriam was letting former Governor Friend W. Richardson dictate the appointments. Close associates of Merriam, however, insist the governor is taking dictation from nobody, but is filling positions with people who were especially friendly toward him and who he thinks will do a good job.

Florence Porter Called by Death

Following an illness of several months duration, Mrs. Florence Porter, 59, resident of Santa Ana for the past two and a half years, died at her home, 1044 West Third street, yesterday. Born in Decatur, Iowa, she had lived in this state for 12 years.

She was the wife of Mark M. Porter, and also is survived by three sons, Harry C. Porter, Robert W. Porter and Harvey D. Porter, all of Santa Ana; one daughter, Mrs. Mary Tyrrel, of Albion, Iowa; one sister, Mrs. Edna Gishwiller, of Longmont, Colorado, and one brother, Medley S. Shelton.

Funeral services will be held from the chapel of the Harrell and Brown Funeral home, 116 West Seventeenth street, tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. with the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan, minister of the First Christian church, officiating. Interment will be made in Forest Lawn cemetery.

Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 19.—

(UP)—Some of the organization heads and campaign directors who worked for the Merriam cause must have made job promises indiscriminately, if scenes in the governor's office mean anything.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam claims he made no definite promises to any individuals, and he probably is correct because he is too experienced in politics to go about the state promising everybody a job and expecting to "get away with it."

But somebody did a lot of promising. And the governor's outer office is filled daily with impatient men and some women waiting to be given a commission, put on the payroll and furnished with an office. Because the governor has only a certain number of positions to fill, he cannot take care of every job seeker in the state, and as a result there is considerable grumbling.

Republicans who are not overly friendly to Merriam waited when Harry Lutgens, San Rafael publisher, was appointed director of institutions. They called Lutgens a Richardson man and claimed Merriam was letting former Governor Friend W. Richardson dictate the appointments. Close associates of Merriam, however, insist the governor is taking dictation from nobody, but is filling positions with people who were especially friendly toward him and who he thinks will do a good job.

ly toward him and who he thinks will do a good job.

Linking of Lutgens with Richardson was traced to the secretaryship position the publisher had under the former governor.

The complaining Republicans pointed out also that Merriam promoted Richardson to state banking superintendent, one of the best appointive jobs in the state. And they claimed that Louis C. Drapeau, appointed building and loan commissioner, was a Richardson man, while Clark E. Day, appointed manager of the state compensation insurance fund, held the same post under Richardson.

In order words, the grumblers mutter, "the Richardson administration is being returned to office."

The capitol press regretted the resignation of Justus Craemer, as secretary to the governor. Relations between Craemer and the press were exceptionally cordial, Craemer being a publisher himself and well-liked generally. He was succeeded by Mark Megladdery Jr., young Oakland attorney who was active in the Merriam campaign.

Craemer wanted to return to his private interests, but may accept some other state position later.

Twenty-five applications have been received for the job of state printer, $5,000 post now held by Harry Hammond, Ralph appointee. Merriam probably will not make a replacement until after the first of the year. This appeared to be the most popular job in the list, if number of applicants means anything.

The San Francisco-Oakland Bay toll bridge arguments and the new liquor regulations were pre-holiday controversies which loomed as major headaches to administration officers and the board of equalization, respectively.

Co-founder Of Utopian Society To Lecture Here

"The World in Revolt," a 90-minute motion picture sponsored by the Utopian society, started a four-day run in Santa Ana today at the Temple theater on the eve of the first birthday of the organization.

W. E. Rousseau, who with Eugene J. Reed and Merritt T. Kennedy, organized the society, will appear in connection with the picture and make a brief talk on the scenes from all parts of the world. The showings will be held after-noon and evenings today, tomorrow, Friday and Saturday. The picture has been shown only in San Diego previously and will go from here to Los Angeles and other cities.

Committees and members of patriotic societies have been invited to view the picture and the general public is invited. A nominal admission fee will be charged.

stimulate private initiative and increase opportunities for private employment," said the resolution on relief.

On unemployment insurance, the conference said "unsound legislation at this time would prejudice the possibility of securing a satisfactory solution in the future." It argued there is plenty of time for study as no plan of unemployment reserves can help solve the immediate problem.

"A committee should be created by business to study the practicability of a comprehensive program of social security adaptable to American conditions, giving immediate attention to unemployment reserves and old-age pensions," the resolution said.

BLIZZARDS, GALES SWEEPING ON EAST

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—(UP)—A swirling snowstorm, whipping off the northwest prairie, struck the middle west today and swept toward the eastern seaboard with a warning of blizzards and gales.

A half dozen central states were blanketed with two to seven inches of snow. Two or three more inches were predicted by nightfall with a sharp drop in temperatures.

Along the Atlantic coast the approaching bad weather was heralded by storm warnings displayed from Boston to Jacksonville, Fla. A gale sweeping from Georgia may merge with the mid-western storm, the weather bureau said.

Rumor Indictment By Grand Jury In Beach Vote Case

The county grand jury today was believed to have concluded its investigation of Newport Beach election frauds, and rumors were current at the courthouse that one secret indictment had been voted, and may be presented in superior court at any time.

Only two cases of asserted fraudulent voting were taken up by the grand jury. It has been understood. The grand jury was in session yesterday, hearing witnesses on a matter said to have no connection with the Newport Beach charges. The nature of the hearing was closely guarded.

Today, the grand jury was not in session, being occupied with its routine investigation of county departments and affairs.

START WORK ON WATER DISTRICT VOTING LISTS

Preparations for the laborious task of preparing a voting list for the annual election of the Orange County Water District next February 5 were set in motion late yesterday, when the county supervisors authorized County Clerk J. M. Backs to proceed with the matter.

Four departments of county government will be brought into action to provide the data upon which the voting eligibility list will be compiled, the clerk being authorized to gather data from the auditor, assessor and tax collector regarding the last assessment roll, which forms the basis of voting eligibility.

The law governing operation of the district provides that only property owners may vote at its elections, each voter being allowed one vote for each $100 of assessed valuation of property owned. The clerk is required to ascertain who is eligible to vote and how many votes accrue to each property owner.

New Car Authorized
 The supervisors yesterday authorized the purchase of a new Ford car for the district attorney's office to replace an outworn larger car.

Resolution of Sympathy
 The board passed a resolution of sympathy and condolence for Ernest George Jeffrey and family, on account of the death of Mrs. Jeffrey's mother, in Santa Barbara. Supervisor Jeffrey was absent from the meeting yesterday because of the bereavement.

ANOTHER STATE EMPLOYEE GETS RUDE SHOCK

E. W. Reed of Seal Beach, inspector for the state department of professional and vocational standards, has joined the horde of ousted state employees who charge Gov. Frank F. Merriam of depriving them of their civil service eligibility.

Reed, whose offices have been in Seal Beach, declares true the charges preferred by Joseph P. Smith, former state real estate commissioner, that Merriam is practicing reactionary politics and of violating the spirit of Amendment No. 7, approved by the people at the November election.

Reed has been an inspector for more than two years, and reputedly in an efficient manner. His territory comprised Orange county, part of San Diego and Los Angeles counties.

He told a representative of The Register that he worked "under Merriam's orders" during the last campaign under the assurance of continuation of his position if he helped Merriam to be elected and if Amendment No. 7 was passed.

He declares that for his efforts he was awakened early Saturday morning by a telephone call from Long Beach that cost him 50 cents, in which he was informed that he was fired. The letter confirming the telegram which he received the following day was just as curt and ungrateful, he said.

Reed declared that he had been informed that two inspectors in Southern California as well as seven in Northern California had been dismissed, in addition to Swearingin, the supervisor.

The Seal Beach man says he has no plans for the future, declaring that he had lived up to his agreement to work for the governor's election and the approval of Amendment No. 7 and believed that he was secure in his post.

Parking Violation Brings Tickets From S. A. Police

Parking beyond the time limit is bad enough in the business district but overtime parking in the vicinity of the post office will not be tolerated, it was pointed out by police in the form of five court citations issued in the last two days for motorists parked within a block of the post office.

Post office officials have reported to officers that many persons are in the habit of parking for several hours and even all day, resulting in a scarcity of parking stalls for post office patrons.

Police will be checking vigilantly near the post office until after the Christmas rush to enable those with letters and packages to hasten their visits.

MARION WINS BY 10 VOTES IN CONTEST

Constable Ed Marion, of Anaheim, was finally declared winner by 10 votes, in the election contest brought by his opponent, Sam L. Snodgrass, which was finished late yesterday when Superior Judge George Freeman, of Riverside, gave his ruling on 26 disputed ballots.

Thus Constable Marion's hairline lead of two votes in the official findings of the election, which gave Marion 3774 and Snodgrass 3772, with two scattering votes, was enlarged by the recount, which gave Marion 3799 and Snodgrass 3789. Discovery of errors by election boards in tabulating their vote, or in passing upon the validity of certain ballots, increased the vote total by 42, with Marion gaining eight votes.

The court recount had left the two candidates four votes apart, 3799 for Marion to 3785 for Snodgrass, with the 26 disputed ballots to be passed upon by the court. Of the 15 Snodgrass ballots that were disputed, the court allowed only 3 to be counted, rejecting 12. Of the 11 Marion ballots that were disputed, the court allowed 9 to be counted and rejected only 2. These rulings assured Marion's re-election.

In declaring Marion re-elected, the court also awarded him his costs of the contest.

4 AUTO WRECKS REPORTED; 3 PERSONS HURT

Four wrecks were reported yesterday to traffic authorities, three of which were in Santa Ana with only one person hurt, and a fourth west of Anaheim in which two persons were hurt.

S. P. Trueblood, 27, 809 North Palm avenue, Anaheim, and Mrs. Herbert Head, 203 Ninth street, Garden Grove, were each slightly hurt last evening when their cars collided at Katella and Neff roads, west of Anaheim.

Edith Polk, 211 East Edinger street, received cuts about the head and face when she was knocked down by a car driven by Ray Kimball, 603 East First street, at First and Main streets last evening.

In a spectacular accident at Fourth and Bristol streets yesterday, two cars jumped a curb and one crashed into a vacant store. T. Kiyota, of Los Angeles, and Emerson Burgess, 1615 West Seventh street, reported that they were trying to avoid hitting their cars and drove over the sidewalk.

Neither was hurt but there was considerable damage to the store and Burgess' car.

The car of Freda Losh, 614 East Fourth street, ran over a railroad switch and was severely damaged at 2:45 a. m. today at Second and Evergreen streets. The driver was not hurt, it was reported to police. The switch was broken from the impact.

MEN GET JAIL SENTENCES ON THEFT CHARGES

Three of four Mexicans arrested Monday in connection with the holdup and robbery of N. Ricos, special deputy sheriff of Los Angeles county in the Santa Ana canyon Sunday night, were given three month jail sentences for petty theft in the Fullerton justice court yesterday.

Frank Espinosa, 23, Anaheim, was released when officers were convinced he had no part in the affair but the other three men were tried in court. They were Louis Martinez, 23, Ned Hernandez, 24, and Paul Hernandez, 25, all of Anaheim.

They were jailed Monday for investigation of robbery after Ned Hernandez confessed to Anaheim police that he had participated in the holdup. He then took sheriff's officers to the home of the other men, where they were arrested. Ricos had his gun, holster, belt, badge and $5 in cash taken by the Mexicans, who took him in their car to a point near Fullerton, when they released him. They then drove to Buena Park and pawned the gun for $2 and some cigarettes. The men pleaded guilty before Judge Halsey Spence and were returned to the jail.

DAN MULHERRON NEW HEAD OF COAST GROUP

Dan Mulherron, president of the San Clemente chamber of commerce and construction superintendent of the Orange county S.E.R.A., was elected president of the Orange County Coast Association last night, as the coast club closed a year of activities with its annual Christmas party at Seal Beach.

Led by a genial Santa Claus in the person of his new president, the association entered wholeheartedly in the holiday spirit, exchanging gifts, singing and playing games. A turkey dinner was furnished through the members of the Altar Society of St. Ann's church. Father Patrick O'Dowd offered thanks and gave the dedicatory speech on the subject of Christmas spirit.

Elected to other offices of the association for the coming year were C. E. Burnett of Laguna Beach, first vice president; Elmer Hughes, mayor of Seal Beach, second vice president; H. L. Sherman, Newport Beach, third vice president; J. P. Greeley, Newport Beach, treasurer, and Harry Welch, Newport Beach, secretary. The additional duties of field secretary were given to Welch. The meeting, which was opened by president C. G. Huston, of Costa Mesa, was entertained at dinner by a special program of Christmas music from a Long Beach radio station, featuring the Siegfried Chorists of Costa Mesa, Vladimir Lepsky, violinist, and other artists. Following dinner a musical program featuring James McGarrigle, Long Beach tenor, Mrs. Fred Clark of Long Beach and Mrs. Vernon Clayton of Santa Ana, was heard.

Short talks were heard from Jesse Armitage and President Huston. Mrs. K. P. Fredericks, Long Beach, was in charge of gifts for the party, with Dan Mulherron in the distributing role. The party was arranged by a special committee headed by Leslie Kimmell, who was assisted by Elmer Hughes, Mrs. Stella White, Jesse Armitage, R. Henshaw, Harry Welch and Tom Talbert.

The next meeting of the group, at which the newly elected officers will be installed, will be held in Costa Mesa, January 22, it was announced. President Huston announced that preparations for the Christmas lighting program, by the group were complete, and that all towns along the coast line from Long Beach to San Clemente will light up this week. The slogan for the groups annual decoration contest is "Christmas Smiles for Forty Miles." Huston and Mrs. May Jackson are in charge of arrangements.

CITY STREET DISTRICTS GET GAS TAX AID

Santa Ana taxpayers in four city street assessment districts will be assisted to the extent of $12,000 in paying off their street bonds, through action of the county supervisors late yesterday in appropriating that amount from the gas tax fund, for acquisition and improvement districts in Santa Ana.

The district for improvement of Santa Ana boulevard was appropriated $6000; $3000 was allotted to East First street, $2000 to West Seventeenth street, and $1000 to North Sycamore street.

Formerly the gas tax funds could be allocated to cities only for new improvements, but new legislation permits appropriations as well for the retirement of indebtedness relating to street improvement, it is explained.

GARDEN GROVE STUDENTS PLAN YULE PROGRAMS

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 19.—Prior to closing of school in the district from December 21 to January 1, Christmas programs will be presented by pupils of both the high school and grammar schools, with parents invited to attend.

Students of the high school will present their program on the evening day at 7 p. m. "The Winter Song" will be sung by the boys' glee club. "Ho! How Arise Be Blooming," "Convent Carol," "The First Noel," and "Silent Night" will be sung by the combined glee clubs, the last piece to have a vibraphone accompaniment played by Miss Dorothy Beardsley. Evelyn Lamb is accompanist for the glee clubs. A contralto solo, "Infant Jesus" will be sung by Miss Valerie Patterson, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Barnes.

On Thursday afternoon, at 1 o'clock at the Washington school auditorium, the Lincoln school students will present a program. This program has been divided into two parts, the first consisting of songs by the school kindergarten, Mrs. Nell Harbottle's third grade room and the fifth grade chorus, with readings by Aelene Johnson and Betty Lee McCullough. The last part of the program will present the Christmas story by means of shadow pictures and the singing of carols from the balcony. Taking part in the shadow pictures will be Geraldine De Graaf, Tommy Myers, Lloyd Freeman, Billy Dale, Howard Beatty, Wallace Schnitzger, Virgil Harria, Bill Smith, Carol Mantor, Mary Brown, Betty Solter and Gabrielle Scherlock. The reader will be Nancy Jean Tyler.

"He Also Serves," a pageant, will be presented Friday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock in the Washington school auditorium by pupils of that school, under the direction of Miss Fairs Virgin, who is being assisted by Mrs. Mary Hochman, costumes; Walter Leonhardt, scenery, and Miss Opal Knox, music. Speaking parts will be taken by Gray Jones, Donald Meler, Bob Ward, Charles Bustillos, Leroy Young, Wilson Ogawa, Arthur Berry, Leroy Littlejohn, Bill Solter, Billy Coleman, Marion Hudson, Edith Hubert and Rebecca McProud. The boys' and girls' glee clubs will be stationed on the balcony and will sing carols at various times throughout the production.

The Christmas story will be given in song and pageant from 10 to 12 o'clock Friday at the Hoover school. On the same afternoon each room will have its usual Christmas party, with Santa Claus making an appearance.

CHOIR MEETS TONIGHT
WESTMINSTER, Dec. 19.—Members of the Westminster Presbyterian church choir will meet for rehearsal tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Anna Campbell.

A music cabinet has been installed at the church for the use of the choir. Ed L. Hensley presides.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
When Dan Bleeker, junior publisher of The Blade, is called to the morgue, police reporter, has been mysteriously killed he determines to employ Sidney Griff, famous criminologist, to solve the murder.

Norden had been assigned to learn all he could about Frank B. Cathay, wealthy and prominent, who had threatened to sue The Blade because the newspaper reported Cathay had been arrested. Later it was proved that the man arrested, giving the name of Cathay and accompanied by a girl called Mary Briggs, was an impostor. Mrs. Cathay assures Bleeker her husband will drop the charges if The Blade publishes a retraction, and this is done.

A day later Norden is found dead. Bleeker receives a telephone call from the editor of the Riverside Chronicle. As he puts down the telephone Kenney, city editor, asks, "What did you find out?"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

YULE CANTATA PRESENTED BY BREA-OLINDA HIGH STUDENTS

BREA, Dec. 19.—A Christmas cantata was presented by the music department of the Brea-Olinda union high school Tuesday night, the admission fee being canned goods, toys and clothing for the needy.

The program opened with numbers by the orchestra, led by Miss Louise Chapman. The girls' glee club, the members in new blue and white, striped uniforms with red ties and buttons, were in the balcony and from that point sang Christmas carols. An instrumental trio, Paul Moore, Jean Ball and Clyde Taylor, playing violin, flute and piano, gave "Ave Maria," by Bach-Gounod.

Bill Thaten, with Miss Chapman accompanying, sang "The Birth of a King" and a brass quartet, Billy Mayo and Charles Russell, trumpets, and Richard Barnes and Gladys Jackson, trombones, played "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing" and "Silent Night."

The Christmas story was told in silhouettes with Adelaide Smith and Arthur Crowhurst appearing as Mary and Joseph, Merle Shores, Donald Voorhees and Orman Stewart as the shepherds of flocks and later as the wise men, and Frances Smith, Jean Howard and Phyllis Manis as the herald angels.

Solo parts were taken by Gloria Meissner, singing "Cantique de Noel," Lake Dustin, Milton Armstrong and Billy Sweet, singing "The Three Kings." June Massey and Lorraine Muzzall sang a duet. Leslie Jones announced the scenes and the song numbers. Clyde Taylor and Eulah Mae Smith were the accompanists.

It is this section of the field that the city strip lease on Ocean avenue is located. The well which ran wild is only 90 feet from the city's waste. The city is prevented from drilling the lease due to an injunction secured by the Standard Oil company.

SCHOOL PUPILS TO GIVE PLAY FRIDAY
OCEANVIEW, Dec. 19.—Oceanview school will present a program for the public at 7:30 o'clock Friday night. A play entitled, "Christmas on Piney Ridge," is being presented under the direction of Miss Genevieve White.

The stage settings are under the supervision of Joseph Gebauer of the faculty. School closes Friday for a two weeks' vacation.

The cast of characters is as follows: "Virginia Burton," Norma Lee Lopp; "Ross," her twin brother, Joseph Hudsch; "Tip," the young brother, Donald Harding; "Mrs. Fairchild," Betty Erhart; "Jimmie," the hired man, James Moore; "Martin," the father, Gloria Clem.

The two glee clubs of the school the girls with 50 members under the direction of Miss Phyllis Jamison, Miss Helen Schoenberger as accompanist, and the boys' with 45 members Manville Saxton, director, and Miss Josephine Ball, accompanist, will present numbers during the evening.

BEACH CHURCH TO GIVE YULE PLAY
HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 19.—Members of the Pentecostal Church of God will hold a Christmas program Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock, with the public invited to be present. It was announced today by Mercedes Ritch, pastor. The program will include songs, recitations and a play.

Beginning January 2, evangelistic meetings will be held by the church. Regular meetings are held Wednesday and Saturday nights and Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Sunday school is at 9:45 a. m. The church is located at 117 Third street.

Kenney gave a cynical laugh. "If she gave him poison," he said, "she knew how serious the illness was."

Bleeker's tone was impatient. "You use a lot of 'ifs,'" he said. "As a matter of fact, if she did have anything to do with giving him the poison, she couldn't have given herself any better break than by coming down here with the family lawyer. It shows that she was loyal to her husband's interests, that she thought his sickness was the result of a nervous collapse from worrying over what we might do to his reputation. And she couldn't have possibly made a better gesture that would show she regarded the illness of her husband as relatively trivial."

Kenney stared thoughtfully at the junior publisher. "But," he said, "if Cathay was murdered, then the person who poisoned him knew that Cathay was going to die. If he knew Cathay was going to die, what was the object in killing Charles Norden?"

"I told you," said Bleeker explosively, "that you're jumping at conclusions without knowing enough about the facts. You get the facts. Then we'll put them together."

"I'm getting the facts all right," Kenney told him grimly. "Get more then," said Bleeker and banged the door behind him as he strode into the corridor.

Sidney C. Griff was in his late thirties. A woolen bathrobe stretched to his ankles, slumped about his legs as he walked. He was pacing the floor with a restless rhythm.

Dan Bleeker sat in an overstuffed leather chair, his teeth clamped on the stem of a pipe, his dark eyes watching Griff with

Detour Cars As H. B. Well Throws Oil

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 19.—The Standard Oil company's B. No. 66 well on Ocean avenue near Twenty-seventh street blew out yesterday afternoon and caused traffic on the Coast highway to be detoured. Standard workmen finally got the well under control after an hour's battle.

The well, one of 26 on the Coast highway, 2000-barrel producers each, began acting up Monday night when a cleanout crew went to work on it. Gas and oil began to spew and the gas pressure became so strong that it could not be controlled.

It is this section of the field that the city strip lease on Ocean avenue is located. The well which ran wild is only 90 feet from the city's waste. The city is prevented from drilling the lease due to an injunction secured by the Standard Oil company.

WORK STARTED ON SCHOOL BUILDING
WESTMINSTER, Dec. 19.—Construction work on the new $30,000 elementary school building for Westminster commenced Monday with a crew of 20 SERRA laborers starting the foundations for the new building. The financing of the project is being done jointly by the local school board and the Board of Public Building reconstruction.

Through the recommendation of Allison and Allison, architects, who were awarded the contract for the new building, Fred C. Verley, of Los Angeles, was appointed as construction superintendent of the project. Verley has worked in that capacity on such buildings as the Pine Arts building at Redlands university, the Mariposa county court house at Phoenix and the Pickwick hotel in San Diego.

It is hoped to use SERRA labor for the construction work, which will follow the foundation laying. Materials will be secured by means of a loan secured last year through the Public Building Reconstruction corporation.

INSTALL NEW OFFICERS OF LA HABRA MASONIC LODGE

LA HABRA, Dec. 19.—At an open installation the new officers of the La Habra Masonic lodge No. 689 took their stations Tuesday evening. Worshipful Master Roy Irwin Le Fever, of Whittier, inspector of the 96th Masonic district, was installing officer, assisted by Harlan Hodges, of La Habra, as master of ceremonies and Frank Barrows as installing officer.

Officers inducted were Phillip H. Goodell, worshipful master; George Armstrong, senior warden; Ed Klusman, junior warden; J. W. Weaver, treasurer; A. J. Young, secretary; Dr. E. S. Bolce, chaplain; Frank Bittick, senior deacon; Grant Sherman, marshal; Toy Blackmore, senior steward; Fred Walker, junior steward; Frank Barrows, organist; Glenn Anabel, tiler. Ushers were Edgar Leutwiler and R. E. Launer.

Following his installation, Phillip Goodell, worshipful master, was presented with a gavel made from wood secured in the Mojave desert and turned out by Frances Luehm. The presentation was made by his father-in-law, Frank E. Proud.

Entertainment features during the installation were vocal music by James Baker, of Fullerton; piano solo by Katherine Luehm and a dance number by Adele Stemple, accompanied by Evelyn McFadden.

WATER REPORT PRESENTED TO CITY COUNCIL
LA HABRA, Dec. 19.—A report of the water department, read at the meeting of the city council Tuesday evening, showed 22 meters set during the month of November. The report also showed that on November 1, there was a balance in the operating fund of $2202.44. Water sales for the month of November totaled $1485.59, receipts from consumers' deposits, $21, making total receipts for the month of $1506.59. This amount, less the total disbursements of $1515.92, left a balance in the operating fund of $2194.10.

Henri Clayton appeared before the council with five extinguishers, and the fire committee was instructed to investigate the merit of the product and decide whether or not the council should purchase such apparatus to be carried in the cars of the police officers and city engineer.

Frank Newman and other property owners on East La Habra street appeared before the council to ascertain what had been done to avert flood conditions in that section. He was informed that the street committee of the council was working with the county officers in an effort to secure adequate protection for the property owners.

Sidney Griff starts work on the Cathay case in the next installment. "Find Mary Briggs," he tells Bleeker.

"What sort of stuff?" asked Bleeker.

"Mental telepathy, hypnotism, and all that," Griff said. "You know there's something peculiar about our personalities. They're filled with life. Life is vibration. Vibrations are sent out and received. Every man's brain is, to a certain extent, a broadcasting station. There's too much interference in the receiving stations. Too much static to bring it in clearly, particularly with the conscious mind. The subconscious mind gets a lot of that, that the conscious mind doesn't comprehend."

Bleeker tapped the tobacco in the bowl of his pipe with a quick thrust of his right forefinger.

"No," he said, "I'm not interested in that stuff."

There was silence for a moment.

"What were you saying about the pickpocket?" asked Bleeker.

"He was either a professional pickpocket or an amateur pickpocket," Griff said. "If he'd been an amateur, it's hardly possible that he'd have managed to pick Cathay's pocket without Cathay knowing it. Of course, he might. On the other hand, a professional pickpocket invariably strips the wallet of money and throws the wallet itself away. Obviously there's nothing that's more incriminating than to be caught with a man's wallet in your possession, particularly when that wallet contains cards and other means of identification."

"That doesn't mean very much as far as the solution of the mystery is concerned," Bleeker pointed out.

"It may and it may not," Griff said. He was on his feet again. "Now, here's something else. There's a woman mixed up in the case somewhere. This Mary Briggs, the hitch-hiker. She must know something about the man who posed as Cathay."

"We're going to find her," Bleeker said. "I've already figured she might be a key witness."

"All right, so much for that," Griff said. "We'll let that wait a moment. Now we come to the fact that Norden told you he was contacting a woman, but didn't want to mention her name."

"I don't think there's any question," Bleeker said, "but what that woman was one who was connected directly with Cathay."

News Behind the News

WASHINGTON

By Paul Mallon

PLANNERS

Those busy New Deal planners, who dumped their empty-umbrella word report on President Roosevelt's desk two weeks ago, didn't bother to explain it, but their program for immediate legislative purposes boils down to just three things.

Congressmen who haven't the patience to wade through the verbiage can get at the gist of the board's report by a glance at its subjects, which are land, water, minerals, public works and planning.

What the board wants Congress to do this winter is, first of all, to approve establishment of a permanent national planning board to be coordinated with the forty-two state planning boards now in existence.

Steps number two and three are to authorize a continuing public works program to spend as high as $5,000,000,000 a year for ten years, and to authorize a land reclamation program. What this latter means is that the Federal Government would buy submarginal lands and restore them to timber or grass.

MODERATE

None of this is very radical and bears no more relation to the Russian five-year plan than the New Deal bears to Communism. The Roosevelt planners do not, of course, seek to take over any private property (excepting those waste lands which nobody wants anyway). In the words of one of them, what they hope to do is to plan for depressions just as the army plans for war.

This planner explains a really radical approach would not even admit the possibility of recurrence of depressions, yet this admission is implicit in the board's whole program. In a word, the report outlines a conservation program. Much of the report was couched in such general terms as to be largely meaningless until clarified by publication of the detailed reports on which its conclusions are based. For instance, in all its talk of public works, the board barely touched on the most housing subject.

TIMING

New Deal publicists again displayed their talents for timing in releasing the natural resources board report on the very day that the nation's leading business men had gathered at that West Virginia spa to form their own recovery program.

Those big public works figures in the headlines, plus the labor advisory board's report demanding more pay for labor in NRA, told the business men in very plain language that sentiment in Washington is still for going ahead.

The labor repining particularly on the continuing pressure on the White House from that source.

AFTER BANKHEAD

Farming in the United States is probably going to be a lot different A. B. (after Bankhead) if high up AAA-ers are right in their private forecasts of what the future holds.

AAA-ers won't come right out and say so for fear they might be charged with trying to regiment farmers, but they have little inner doubt that more farmers are going to demand compulsory crop control now that the cotton growers have okayed it.

In fact, eastern potato growers were in even before the official cotton poll was known. They asked a similar control program for that commodity. AAA-ers listened and then told them Congress would have to decide.

Outside of cotton, tobacco is the only crop now having compulsory control. Results of a vote on continuing the plan for tobacco will be released in a few days.

As one AAA-er put it: "The farmers feel that if 80 or 90 per cent of growers of a crop want production control, it is only right that the few not wanting it should be required to come in. Why should they enjoy the high prices brought about by majority action, although they do not contribute?"

It is pointed out that, had it not been for the drought, the 1,000,000 extra acres of wheat planted by non-signers last year might have wrecked the market price and the adjustment program for that crop. Due to the drought, however, nature curbed production far beyond

420 E. 4th — Open Evenings

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—The thing is possible in this racket. "You said I'd never be champion if I didn't quit running around and live like Simple Simon, but here I am."

Baer then stressed the novelty of his big idea, and explained why it is necessary if he is to collect any kind of substantial amount for putting the slug on somebody for 1935.

"I saw that Lasky in Chicago for the first time the other night," he went on. "What did you think of him?" "He got a draw with Levinsky."

"Yes, but what did you think of him?" "I kept that to myself, but this is what I thought. So this is the guy who wants to fight me. Now, who is going to pay to see a fight like that?"

WAY TO MAKE BAER WORK
Baer's record reads well. After all, he holds decisions over Schmeling and Lasky. But Steve doesn't knock anybody out. That's what a good share of the good people out there want to sit in on—my being beaten for a loop.

"Carnegie didn't do himself any good running down to Buenos Aires, and I'm sitting fat Campolo stick the route."

"Schmeling is the biggest card, because the customers know he can hit. The German would be great if he'd return to this country and flatten Hamas, or somebody like that. He's better stay away from Carnie, though. Primo would beat him on his size alone."

"Peterson and Doyle have yet to show on this side."

"So two the same night is the best scheme, and it would be even better if four of them would take part in an elimination."

"Such a show would attract a lot of attention, and we'd each have to train for 20 or 30 rounds, depending on the limit set."

"Try to fix that up," beamed Baer, turning to Hoffman. "It would at least put me to work. I might even convince Commissioner Bill Brown that I'm not a bum."

"No commission would sanction it," cut in Anell Hoffman, whose half is graying even more rapidly now that he has two Baers instead of one. Between trying to keep Buddy Baer from being hurt in the ring and Maxie Baer from being hurt out of it, it doesn't seem possible that Hoffman can stand the gaff much longer.

"Oh, the commission will stand for anything, if the proper strings are pulled," replied Baer. "Any."

MANAGER'S HAIR GRAY
Anyway, Baer would have the two survivors draw straws for the dubious privilege of engaging him first, with Challenger No. 1 agreeing to square off with Challenger No. 2 after a five minute intermission.

BIERMAN MAY REPLACE JONES AS LONG COACH

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 18.—Senator Huey Long was looking for another football coach of "National reputation" today for his Louisiana State university team.

Coach Lawrence ("Biff") Jones' resignation was accepted by L. S. U. authorities on Long's recommendation.

It was reported Bernie Bierman of Minnesota Clark Shaugnessy of Chicago and Ray Morrison of Southern Methodist university, were being considered to fill Jones' position.

Jones offered his resignation Saturday after the Oregon-L. S. U. game. He had a tilt with the senator between halves. Long wanted to make a speech to the Louisiana team, but Jones refused.

Whether Jones will request an immediate transfer by the war department was unknown. He is also instructor in military tactics at the university.

All the new coach will have to do, Senator Long said, will be to "produce a National championship team." Jones' successor will not be announced until after the first of the year. President James M. Smith, of the university, said.

24 PREP HOOP TEAMS A WAIT BEACH TOURNEY

Huntington Beach high school's sixth annual invitational basketball tournament gets under way tomorrow, with 12 of the 24 title-seeking basketball teams seeing action in hourly "shifts."

The inaugural contest at 3 p. m. pairs a couple of Orange County league quintets, Tustin and Valencia. Downey and Redlands go on at 4, with Santa Ana and Excelsior taking the floor at 5.

After an hour's intermission, Laguna Beach meets Corona at 7, their contest being followed by Huntington Beach-Jordan at 8, and Muir Tech and Long Beach at 9.

Twelve other schools play first round games Friday, as follows: Garden Grove vs. Bonta, 3 p. m.; Chino vs. Newport Harbor, 4 p. m.; Fullerton vs. Redondo Beach, 5 p. m.; Claremont vs. San Juan Capistrano, 6 p. m.; Leuzinger vs. Orange, 7 p. m.; Anaheim vs. Chaffey, 8 p. m.

Semi-finals begin Saturday morning. Championships are to be decided that evening—the minor group finalists clashing at 6:30, the intermediates at 7:30, and the majors at 8:30.

The schools are classified according to enrollment, as follows: Minor—Tustin, Valencia, Laguna Beach, Corona, Garden Grove, San Juan Capistrano and Claremont.

Intermediate—Downey, Redlands, Huntington Beach, Jordan, Chino, Newport Harbor, Leuzinger, Orange, Major—Santa Ana, Excelsior, Muir Tech, Long Beach junior varsity, Fullerton, Redondo Beach, Anaheim, Chaffey.

Muir Tech, which cleaned up in the major class last year, is favored to repeat. The Pasadena school is represented by three veterans in Tom McGarvin, Preston Clipper and Wally Kraus, and two '33 substitutes, Snowden and Copeland. Tech's chief competition is expected from Redondo Beach of the Bay league.

Santa Ana, runner-up to Muir Tech last winter, has a promising but inexperienced line-up without a holdover regular. The Saints may even have trouble in the first round, as Excelsior indicated promise last week by beating Anaheim, 20-24.

Huntington Beach and Chino are rated a stand-off in the intermediate division, and are likely to tangle in the finals since they are in different brackets. Huntington Beach reached the semi-finals of the recent La Verne college tournament. Scott and Barnett, two transfers, showed considerable skill.

Bonta, champion of its class at La Verne, is a slight choice in the minor group, but Tustin and San Juan Capistrano will bear watching. Orange County league schools will be interested especially in the department of Coach Stan Gould's Capistrano Cougars, conference champions for the past two seasons.

Score Is 129-24; Track Meet? No, Just Basketball
STERLING, Ill., Dec. 19.—(UP)—Local basketball officials believed today a scoring record was established last night in a basketball game in which the Sterling Coliseum team defeated Dixon State Hospital, 129 to 24. Emmett Lowery, former Purdue university guard, made 25 field goals and 2 free throws.

Statesman Reaches Santa Anita Track
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Statesman, half-brother of three English derby winners and a star in his own right on the British turf, had his first workout today at the Santa Anita track, where he will be a leading contender in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap two months hence.

Statesman arrived yesterday with a distinguished American traveling companion, Omar Khayyam, a rival entry in the rich race. Both withstood the long trip across country in fine shape.

Equipoise, frequently rated the all-time handicap champion, also was taken for his first spin today.

Stanford Folk Greet Grid Officials Here
More than 200 Stanford men and women of Orange county are expected at tonight's alumni banquet at James' cafe to hear Graduate Manager Alfred Masters and Publicity Director Don Liebenow.

Stanford officials in charge of the Pasadena Rose Bowl game.

Dinner will be served at 6:30, according to Franklin G. West, president of the Stanford club. Masters and Liebenow promise to discuss latest developments on the Pasadena "front" as well as give their auditors some facts about campus activities. Movies of the recent Stanford-California "Big Game" will be shown.

JOHNSTON MAY BE FIRED FOR $25,000 ERROR

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(UP)—One of the most delightful sessions of the Free-Cigars-and-Squawk club in years was held in Jimmy Johnston's Madison Square Garden office today.

In addition to the boxing writers, those present included Joe Jacobs, who grew rich with Schmeling; Harry Leany, who grew gray with Impellitteri; Six-to-Five Peter, a punching bag salesman, and three unidentified gentlemen who wore caps and kept their feet on the desk.

Following a round-table discussion of the influence of the lake poets on the moderns and a charming talk by Jacobs, in which he told of a delightful box lunch picnic in the Black Forest, someone noticed that Johnston was absent and suggested now was the time to take the promoter apart.

"I hear," said a dear friend of Johnston, as he helped himself to a Johnston cigar from the Johnston desk, "that the brass hat of this place are upstairs right now discussing ways and means of throwing him out."

Johnston Won't Be Fired
"That isn't news," said the reporter in the crowd suit. "They've been in session on the same topic for two years, and he's still with us. If they ever smoked one of these cigars, however, I believe they'd make up their minds in five minutes."

"Say," asked one of the cap guys, "how did Johnston ever let that Schmeling and Hamas match go to Germany? I ain't no promoter—well, no fight promoter, anyway—but I can't believe a guy 4000 miles away could steal a natural right out from under me, now."

"Maybe Hamas wanted too much money," somebody suggested.

"Hell, he did," was the reply. "All he wanted was 35 grand, which ain't so much when you remember the fight couldn't help miss drawing twice that much over here. What about it, Joe? You're Schmeling's manager and you oughta know."

Perhaps it should be pointed out here, before going into Jacob's testimony, that Joe is manager of Schmeling everywhere in the anti-Semitic sentiment in Germany, Joe lets Max do all his own thinking and signing two bouts in that country, and attends them only as a spectator.

According to Jacobs, Johnston lost the match for the Garden only because he wouldn't give Hamas and "Uncle Charley" Harvey, Steve's manager, $25,000.

Delay Cost Garden Match
"Jimmy knew Charley and Steve needed the money, and he knew I was ready to sign Schmeling, but he never got around to it. After it was too late he wanted me to call Schmeling on the trans-oceanic 'phone and get him to pull out of the match. But I'd been smart to do that, now wouldn't I? When Schmeling finally gets a sucker to come over and fight him in his own backyard, he wants me to have it killed. Max has been coming across the ocean to fight for five years, and it's time he got one of the boys to come over there and take a licking."

"You sound mighty confident of Max's ability to pop Steve over," someone said.

"I am," answered Jacobs. "He'll get him in eight rounds. He'll have got him that time in Philadelphia if there'd been just one more round."

According to Jacobs, one of the reasons Johnston and Harvey never got together is that Harvey, who used to hire Johnston to run errands for him, can't get it out of his head that Jimmy still isn't a boy.

"He still wants to send the Garden promoter around the corner for a pack of chewing gum instead of talking about fights. You know how Johnston likes that."

The cigars ran out about this time, so the meeting automatically was adjourned.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

DRAFT

New York appreciates the President's masterpiece of thunder-stealing. Insiders figure he has headed off a serious threat to nationalize the arms industry by copping the Nye Committee's headlines to promote his own less radical ideas for abolishing war profits.

The informed understand that Bernard Baruch and his commission have instructions to produce a universal draft bill within a few weeks—framed in such terms that Congress will go for it with a whoop. The commission has a substantial foundation to build on. Few people realize that the general staff has been busy for ten years working out the details of a mobilization plan for American industry in case of war. The job has been remarkably thorough. Practically every important factory in the country has a definite assignment. Of course industrial participation in the planning has been on a voluntary basis. The War Department has no authority yet to compel the coordination it has mapped. But the corporations approached have shown no reluctance to work with the army. They have felt it was a worthwhile phase of preparedness.

Using this layout as a backbone the commission only needs to tack on provisions to limit profits AND WAGES and there you are.

There will be few if any squawks from capital's side of the fence. Business conservatives will gladly forego potential future gravy to get present assurance against socialist trends. Their main concern is to make sure that labor shall be conscripted as well as wealth. There's every indication that it will be. The President's reference to $10-a-day factory workers versus dollar-a-day soldiers was more than rhetorical.

And right there is where the fur will begin to fly. Organized labor is on record in favor of drafting capital in wartime. Drafting workers also—at a pay scale presumably much below normal—is another animal entirely. There will be stubborn resistance on this angle—but the administration steam roller will probably be able to flatten it out.

Smart financial men expect the President's intervention to improve Washington-Wall Street teamwork. They point out that sincere cooperation is a cheap price to pay for being rescued from the menacing jaws of a socialist precedent. A New York leader remarks that FDR has achieved the miracle of combining a move that is bound to appeal strongly to the people with the most convincing evidence of good faith towards conservative business he has offered yet.

CALM

Word comes over the grapevine that the congressional advocates of nationalization—headed by Senator Nye—can probably swing one concession if they're insistent enough. That would be a provision to have the government take over certain specific industries—including munitions and shipbuilding—for duration in the event of war.

There won't be even a peep of protest from the industries affected if this is done. Their leaders privately figure the next war involving the U. S. is a long way off—so why not yield the shadow if it helps insure the substance of continued private ownership in peace time. Besides, there's always the hope—however faint at present—that a new and more "reasonable" crowd will be running things in Washington if and when such an emergency develops. So why make a fuss?

ADVISERS

The members of the Stock Exchange Advisory Council—composed of distinguished outsiders—should be satisfied now. Several of them were threatening to resign because they had nothing to do—but that's been thoroughly remedied. The exchange has dumped a whopping mess of suggestions for its own betterment into their lap and invited them to sort these out and make recommendations. This ought to keep the boys busy for quite a while. There are signs that their advice will be taken seriously. Insiders say Exchange authorities are virtually committed to act favorably on any proposition submitted with the unanimous approval of the Council.

REFORMS

The questionnaire sent out to Exchange members a few weeks ago gave them a swell chance to air their grievances—and they did! Strong pressure has developed from the rank-and-file to break up the system which gives the Old Guard a stranglehold on Exchange management. Two reform suggestions repeatedly stressed show how the wind blows.

One is to take the selection of officers and committees away from the nominating committee—which is strictly Old Guard—and let the mass of members do their own nominating. Under present conditions elections are a joke. No one not included in the official slate has a chance. If this change were made, the elections would be wide open. Many members feel the authorities would be more responsive to their wishes if they were more vulnerable to votes.

The other is to shorten the term of office for governors on the ground that time-hardened policies tend to be self-perpetuating when a majority of governors hold over each year. There's a widespread feeling that frequent injections of new blood would help. The Exchange has made a number of gestures lately to cultivate public good-will. Insiders say their real object is not so much to woo the public as to soothe the discontent of the many members who blame the present management for a lot of their troubles and are fed up with autocracy.

BANQUET

The bankers are recovering from Jesse Jones' blast at them for not boosting the mortgage market, and have thought up several reports. One is that they would think more of Mr. Jones' generous offer to match capital contributed by banks with RFC money dollar for dollar if he didn't insist that RFC claims must rank ahead of their investments.

They also suggest that a mortgage corporation such as Mr. Jones wants should be financed by private investors rather than banks. "But what percentage does the government give the investor? He'd get all tangled up in the Securities Act, and if he made any money it would probably be grabbed off in taxes. The prospect is about as enticing as a banquet of spinach."

JOB

One of the busiest bodies in town is the law committee of the Stock Exchange. It seems that Joe Kennedy's subordinates have drafted a flock of detailed regulations for trading and sent them up for the Exchange to look over before they are finally adopted.

Experts insist that nine-tenths of them are wholly impractical. But it wouldn't be polite to say what they privately think—that farmhands shouldn't try to repair watches. So the law committee has to analyze each prospective regulation in detail and explain tactfully in words of one syllable why it won't work. One member says the job takes more patience and concentration than eating soup with a fork.

Salvation Army Leader Broadcasts Fund Appeal

CITES SPECIFIC CASES OF NEED IN RADIO TALK

ISSUE BUILDING PERMITS FOR 2 NEW HOMES

Broadcasting an appeal for assistance in a city-wide program to supply a real Christmas for needy families of Santa Ana and citing many cases which merit the active aid of individuals and groups in the city, Capt. C. W. Gallip, commanding officer of Santa Ana Salvation Army corps, spoke over KREG last night.

Outlining the work of the Army throughout the world, Captain Gallip pointed out that the Salvation Army is organized of an army of consecrated and devoted workers endeavoring to meet a distinct need in a world shattered by economic distress.

"Again at this season," he said, "we endeavor to proclaim the birth of the Christ Child by spreading practical cheer and hope to the many in dire distress. Seriously facing the issue, we are not all economically equal or even mentally or physically equal to solve this conundrum of life we are at as great a loss as our listeners, but we do endeavor to spread goodwill and cheer in the name of Him who said, 'Inasmuch as ye have done it to the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me.'"

400 Needy Families

The speaker pointed out that at this Christmas time there are 400 families of worthy poor in the community averaging about five to the family who are in dire need of the necessities of life. After investigating some of the 400 families turned in to the Salvation Army, the speaker said, Army officials believe the need is even greater this year than ever before. "We found one family that was without food for their kiddies," he said. "And where the father was really physically unable to work but in order to withstand the pangs of hunger from his children when a job did open, he went to work. The story is, that this man had received a broken back several years ago in an accident and his newly found work proved too great a strain on his still weak back. As a result of this breakdown he was sent to the hospital where he will be confined for several months to come. Needless to say this is one family that will have a merry Christmas this year because of the kindness of others."

"On another occasion we found a family of three, living in a one-room house about 12 feet square. The young father has only been able to find odd jobs and the last week the entire income was only $1.50. In order that their baby might have enough milk and food the two parents lived on boiled rice that week. This is only two of the many families appealing to us for help.

MRS. WALKER BACK ON COURTHOUSE JOB

Mrs. R. E. Walker has resumed her position as telephone operator at the courthouse exchange after a six months' leave of absence taken under an agreement that her husband, now paymaster for the county SPRA, would be employed if she resigned her county job. Mrs. Lillian Glaab, operator during her absence, has been appointed to the newly created secretaryship in the coroner's office and is information clerk for the courthouse annex.

Requirements Listed
"In order to meet the pressing need this year, it will be necessary to supply about 400 worthy families with baskets of food-stuffs. We are desperately anxious that each basket be filled to the brim. To fill these baskets it will require 600 loaves of bread, and 300 pounds of butter, also 2000 pounds of roast beef, this I understand is about three and one-half cows dressed. Also, 600 pounds of beans, 2000 pounds potatoes, 400 stalks of celery, 800 bunches of carrot, 3600 oranges, 600 pounds of nuts, and we plan to use 2000 apples along with 400 cans of cranberries, 600 cans of corn, as well as 800 pounds of sugar, 100 pounds of tea, 200 pounds of coffee, also 2000 pounds of flour, 400 pounds of lard. In addition to the foregoing may I say that jellies and preserved fruits are a most welcome gift to these destitute families who through reverse circumstances are unable to taste these luxuries of life except at Christmas time.

"Anyone possessing any part of this need in surplus of their own requirements are urged to call the Salvation Army, at Santa Ana 2974 and thereby help spread Christmas cheer in a practical way on this birthday of the Saviour.

"In addition to giving baskets of food to needy families," he said, "we will have a poor kiddies' Christmas tree. These little bright-eyed children, who are underprivileged all through the year, look to us to supply some special treat at Christmas time. And so we are going to have a real tree, Christmas program, and all. We will give out 500 toys and candy and nuts. These great undertakings we endeavor in the name of Him who went about doing good."

Subscriptions for the Christmas cheer fund of the Salvation Army are being taken by The Register.

CHRISTMAS MIRACLE

Two Pictures With a Holiday Message More Eloquent Than Words

BEFORE This is Ellen. She is 2 years old, one of six children of a jobless, penniless laborer. She looked like this when charity workers visited her parents' home—which had burlap sacks stuffed in the windows and strips of cardboard in the doors, to keep out the cold. Ellen had never had a doll, a new dress, a pleasantly full dinner, or any of the other things that a child is supposed to get without asking for them. This picture was printed in a newspaper.

AFTER—and this is what Ellen looked like 24 hours later, after the people of her city had a chance to show that they know what the Christmas spirit is. Ellen is fresh and clean in a new dress, now, she has dolls, and she can smile the way a child ought to smile, and you can look at her picture without lying awake nights, afterward. Somebody asked her 5-year-old brother who did all this. "No," he said, "it wasn't Santa Claus. It was just a lot of good people." ... which, of course, means exactly the same thing.

EDITOR'S NOTE: These two pictures were taken in Cleveland by The Cleveland Press, but similar conditions exist right here in Santa Ana, according to Salvation Army officials. Your contribution to the Christmas Cheer Fund will help make some child happy. Send it in today.

Second Travel Section Enjoys Christmas Luncheon

Mesdames P. S. Virgin, J. H. Tompkins and Howard Wassum were hostesses at the Christmas luncheon with which members of Ebell Second Travel section brought their 1934 activities to a close Monday afternoon in the clubhouse.

The salad course and other features of a chicken luncheon featured a red and green theme evident in all decorations. Red nut baskets and cotoneaster sprays in small bowls were included in the effective appointments.

The lounge, with its Christmas tree, was setting for the program, with Mrs. Theo Winbigler conducting a short business meeting. Mrs. F. W. Wiesseman was in charge of special entertainment features, which included community singing led by Mrs. M. H. Phillips, with Miss Helen Wiesseman at the piano.

Mrs. Victor Montgomery read the story of the birth of Christ from the Bible. Mrs. Wiesseman gave readings, "How the Great Came" (Markham) and "Little Town of Bethlehem" (Brook). Mrs. Larry Hayes sang "The Birthday of a King" (Neidlinger) and "Night of Nights" (Van de Water), accompanied by Miss Carrie Seaton.

Mrs. W. C. Watkins read stories in Negro dialect, "The Christmas Compromise," "When the Folks Are Gone" and "Santa's Talk to Good Children."

Mrs. Wiesseman's little grandson, Master Billy Stauffer, distributed gifts in the exchange which took place.

EAT AND GROW SLIM
Dinner

Clear broth, 1 cup
1 slice beef pot roast
3 small boiled onions
3 tablespoons country style beans
1 ripe apple with
1 inch cube of cheese
Clear tea or coffee, no sugar
Calory total, 527

Add potatoes, hot rolls and jam, and a dessert to this menu for the family meal. Calory total for the three diet meals, 1189.

The boiled onions should be lightly dressed with butter or a little cream sauce, this dressing to be well dripped off the diet serving. Country style string beans is an agreeable change from ordinary canned string beans. For six people use 11-2 cans, drained and the beans cut lengthwise. Heat in half can of tomato soup, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, a dash of lemon juice and a teaspoon of minced onion. Season to taste after the beans are hot.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Carrot Plum Pudding

1-4 cup butter
1 cup white sugar
1 cup bread crumbs
1 cup grated raw carrot
1 cup grated raw potato
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup raisins
1 teaspoon salt
1-2 teaspoon soda
1-2 teaspoon each, cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, all spice

Cream, butter and sugar, with all spices and salt. Dissolve soda in 1 tablespoon hot water, add to grated raw vegetables and mix with creamed butter. Add nuts and fruit and steam in oiled covered cans for 2-3 hours.

Date Nut Bars

2 eggs, beaten with
3-4 cup sugar
3-4 cup flour, stirred with
1 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon baking powder

1 cup diced dates
1 cup finely chopped walnuts
1 teaspoon vanilla
Mix in order given, oil shallow tin, spread in thin layer and bake in a 250-degree oven. Mark for cutting when cool, roll in sugar. These are very nice to serve with sherbet or alone, with a spoonful of whipped cream.

Potato Pie

Soak 11-2 quarts thin-skinned raw potatoes for 30 minutes. Cut 1-2 pound salt pork in thin pieces and put a layer of pork in the bottom of a deep baking dish. Add a layer of potatoes, sprinkled with canned corn and stewed lima beans. Season and repeat the layer arrangement until the dish is almost full, the pork slices finishing the top. Moisten slightly with the lima bean water, cover and bake 1 hour in a moderate oven. Remove cover for 15 minutes to brown the top and evaporate any excess liquid.

This is a whole meal dish. Serve it with a green salad or an apple and celery salad, and a simple dessert using milk in its make-up, an example. The calories total approximately 2400 and the dish serves six.

For convenience in making this dish you might use canned limas. The saving in fuel is a sizable item. One can of corn and one can of limas will be enough.

Thursday: Cheese cake baked in a graham cracker crust and Scalloped Lima Beans will be the recipes.

PRORATE WORK OUTLINED FOR FARM CENTER

ORANGE, Dec. 19.—Tracing the origin of the law passed by the legislature in 1933 which established the California prorate commission, and telling of its subsequent operations, Edson Abel, secretary of the group, spoke to more than 100 members of the West Orange Farm center at a dinner meeting held at the West Orange school Tuesday night.

The state prorate commission, the speaker said, consists of nine men, with A. J. McFadden of Santa Ana, head of the commission, representing the citrus industry on the board.

An illustration of the working of the sweet potato prorate was given by Abel, who said that Orange county, growing but few sweet potatoes, had not been included in a recent prorate of this commodity, and that as a consequence, arrangements had to be made for the disposal of the crop here as dealers would not buy unless certificates were shown by growers.

The law is enforced in three ways, Abel stated, by injunction, by a fine of $500 for each day's operation contrary to prorate provision and by imprisonment on misdemeanor charges. The law has been tested and upheld by the court, he said.

J. W. Crill, farm bureau president, urged discussion meetings for farm centers rather than entertainment programs, in order to aid members in meeting their agricultural problems. All farm centers are in fine condition, he reported. He touched particularly on the farm bureau program in regard to tax, legislative and water interests.

A. F. Schroeder presided and a report on membership was given by Roy Miller, who stated that 225 new members have been added to county centers, this number including 22 in the West Orange center. Christmas songs were sung by Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Bradford, W. M. Cory and Mrs. A. F. Schroeder with Mrs. Joe Witt, who also played piano solos, as the accompanist. Dinner was served under the direction of Mrs. Witt, Mrs. L. L. Hafer, Mrs. Carl Schroeder and Mrs. D. J. Leonard, and a Christmas motif was stressed in the decorations. At the close of the meeting gifts were distributed by Joe Witt, who enacted the role of Santa Claus.

Others were new appointees. Committees, with the first named designated as chairman, are: Sicks and relief—James A. Randel, William Brown and Charles A. Lindquist; recruiting—Charles I. Installation of officers will be a joint one of camp and its auxiliary and will be held on January 1, that being the first meeting of the coming year, and will be preceded by an outgoing and incoming officers of the camp dinner at 6 p. m. at James' cafe. This has long been a custom of the auxiliary, but is an innovation on the part of the camp officers.

Edward Schleuter, a member of the club who just returned from a trip to Boulder Dam, gave a short descriptive talk concerning activities at the dam.

ASK DONATIONS TO HELP NEEDY FOR CHRISTMAS

Inspired with a desire to fulfill the spirit of Christmas as exemplified by the truth that it is more blessed to give than to receive, more generous and friendly citizens and firms of this city came forward today with their contributions for the special Salvation Army Christmas fund.

Salvation Army officials, however, will anxiously scan reports for the next few days as Christmas time draws closer, hoping fervently that enough money will be secured to fill Christmas baskets for 400 needy families of the community and to bring cheer to these destitute families, who are more concerned with the happiness of their children, perhaps, than of themselves.

While the total at noon today had reached $303.25, this by far is not enough to carry out the charitable work of the Salvation Army, which collects this special fund each year for one definite purpose: to see that worthy families in distress are given a substantial Christmas dinner and to see that hearts in tiny breasts that beat high with expectation as the time approaches for Santa Claus to visit their humble homes are not broken.

Send or bring your contribution to The Register and join with these individuals and firms listed below in not only wishing, but making a happy Christmas for everyone in the city.

SCARLET FEVER CASES INCREASE

There are 41 cases of scarlet fever now in Orange county—21 of them in Santa Ana—a wind-up to the record for 1934, which had more scarlet fever cases than any previous year in the county's history, it was stated today by Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer.

The present situation is not regarded as an epidemic, Dr. Sutherland revealed, as the aggregate of cases reported does not greatly exceed the total of other years. There were 320 cases during 1927, the previous record year.

There are seven cases in Orange, three in Anaheim and one in Fullerton, said Dr. Sutherland.

In Santa Ana, nine of the cases are among students at Francis William Junior High school. Almost all of the patients in the county are children.

Alumni of the Santa Ana Junior college will be guests tonight at the annual jaycee Christmas dance to be held in Huntington Beach Memorial hall at 9 o'clock.

KIMBALL FUNERAL SET FOR THURSDAY

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lillie L. Patton; a brother-in-law, A. H. Vosburgh of Chicago, and three nieces, Mrs. J. M. McDonald of Stillwater, Minnesota, and Alice and Betty Vosburgh of Chicago.

Strictly private funeral services will be held from the Harrell and Brown Funeral home tomorrow at 11:30 a. m. with the Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector of the Church of the Messiah, Episcopal, officiating.

JOINT SERVICE WILL OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Santa Ana's four Methodist churches will observe the sesquicentennial of Methodism by uniting in a program at the Spurgeon Memorial church this evening, to celebrate the founding of the church 150 years ago at Baltimore.

The churches participating in tonight's event will be the First Methodist church, the Richland Avenue Methodist church, the Free Methodist church and Spurgeon Memorial church.

Beginning at 7:30 p. m., the program will include congregational singing led by Herbert F. Kenney, a solo by James Nuckolls, and addresses by the Rev. J. A. B. Fry, D. D., presiding elder of the Los Angeles district of the Methodist church, South, and the Rev. Leonard Oechsl, D. D., superintendent of the Los Angeles district of the Methodist church.

An announcement of the event notes that "there will be a birthday cake and all that goes with it, and in the social fellowship of the evening the thing that will be emphasized is that all are Methodists."

MERCHANTS WATCH FOR SHOPLIFTERS

Merchants and salesworkers in stores are keeping a sharp watch for shoplifters, and police are co-operating in an effort to reduce heavy losses to stores during the Christmas season, it was reported today by police officials.

One instance of vigilance came to light yesterday when two small boys were detected stealing knives and cigarette holders in the Kress stores. They were given a lecture by police and returned to their parents.

A Los Angeles man arrested several days ago is now serving a 30-day jail term for petty theft after being caught in a large department store with stolen goods from various concerns in his possession.

World-Wide News Events Told In Pictures

When Glider Pilot Was Killed

He'd Make it "Heil Healey!"

Admitting that "I'm a Hitler", Raymond Joseph Healey, 21-year-old Brooklyn editor, pictured here giving the Nazi salute after testifying before the Congressional Committee on Un-American Affairs in New York City, insisted that he and his supporters believed in a "Fascist gentle government" in America for Americans. He was attired in a uniform that included a metal swastika, an Irish Shamrock and Sam Browne belt.

For Barter or Worse, Jobless Wed

Even a depression can't keep D. Cupid inactive. Roy G. MacDonald and Jessie Barley, both jobless and both working for Berkeley's Self Help Co-Operative, met last summer. They'll marry soon, with a jobless minister performing the ceremony and an orchestra of unemployed playing the wedding march. Self-Helpers will give them "credit points" as wedding presents. These can be exchanged for furniture, etc.

Ex-Husband Is Forgotten Man

Even though she has played the part of bride often before, Lila Lee, Broadway and screen star, was so excited when she eloped from a New York night club with John Peine, noted polo player, that she assured the village clerk at Harrison, N. Y., she never had been married before. Which makes ex-husband James Kirkwood, actor, the forgotten man. The newlyweds are pictured above after the ceremony.

Students Missing

With the hunt for David S. Low (bottom) missing high school football star, being vigorously pushed, Hanover, N. H., was provided with another mystery when it was announced that J. G. Moody (at top) Dartmouth University sophomore, also had disappeared. No connection between the two cases was seen. Low was credited with wanderlust, while Moody was believed to be an amnesia victim.

Approval? Just Matter of Form

Approval, of course, was just a matter of form when Anita Thompson, statuesque blond, shown here, went into Los Angeles court to get action on her film contract. She was so busy with her work that she didn't have time to change from her beach suit-slacks attire, but the judge looked over that.

Regains Crown As Corn King

Being king of the corn world is nothing new to Peter J. Lux, above, of Shelbyville, Ind. The title, which he won at the International Livestock Show at Chicago with these fine ears of Johnson County white corn, was also won by Lux in 1919, 1922, and 1926.

Mobs Loot Churches, Burn Images in Mexican War

Grim evidence of the war to the death being waged in Mexico against the Roman Catholic church is given in this picture, taken in a village in Chiapas state, where the campaign is most relentless. Twenty Indians were shot down in front of their church in Huixtla alone and scores of others were victims in other towns. Here the mob in a parade to the execution plaza carries images, relics and religious ornaments, including a large crucifix, shown at right, from a pillaged church to be burned.

Mother and Daughter Battle for Custody of Girl

With the courtroom open to the public, Mrs. Libby Starr (at left with her counsel, Judge Humphrey Lynch), and her daughter, Mrs. Helen Josephson, (right, listening to testimony), began the airing of their domestic battle for the custody of 10-year-old Constance Brock before Referee Joseph Morchauser in White Plains, N. Y. In support of her charges that Mrs. Josephson is not a fit guardian for her young daughter, Mrs. Starr attempted to introduce evidence of misconduct, but was warned by Referee Morchauser that, unlike the recent Vanderbilt decision, he might refuse to award the custody to either of the litigants.

They Hold Key to Island Mystery

Here are two key figures in the deaths of two persons found on bleak waterless Marchena Island of the Galapagos group. The picture, found on one of the bodies, shows Baroness Bonsquet De Wagner and her companion, Robert Philipson, who left her "empire," Charles Island, in a sailboat and disappeared.

Ten Most Popular Movie Stars of 1934

Here are the ten leading stars of 1934 as revealed by a survey of independent motion picture exhibitors whose decisions are based on drawing power of films and actors. They are, in order of popularity, and as numbered above: 1. Will Rogers; 2. Clark Gable; 3. Janet Gaynor; 4. Wallace Beery; 5. Mae West; 6. Joan Crawford; 7. Bing Crosby; 8. Shirley Temple; 9. Marie Dressler; 10. Norma Shearer. Eight of the ten gained similar honors last year. Bing Crosby and Shirley Temple, newcomers, replace Eddi Cantor and Jean Harlow.

Film Folk Wed, Rush Back to Job Made Savants See Stars in New Way

They didn't have time for a honeymoon, but Margaret Sullivan, cinema star, and William Wyler, her director, radiate happiness as they appear here after their return to Hollywood from Yuma, Ariz., where they were married, making the trip both ways by plane, to lose no time from their work. It was the bride's second marriage and the first for Wyler.

The keen eyes of youth, plus a telescope borrowed from a San Francisco high school, made an astronomical discovery keen observers of the heavens passed by. While using his borrowed 'scope, Leon Salanave, 16, noticed a fluctuation in the star R Coronae which had been stationary 10 years. Astronomers the nation over became greatly interested.

PROFITEERS—ARE THEY THE
DU PONTS OR THE FARMERS

Irene Du Pont, before the Senate Munitions Inquiry committee yesterday, charged the farmers with being the real profiteers during the World war.

He showed charts to the committee indicating great increases in prices paid for wheat, cotton, corn and other commodities, and then he said: "We are not the profiteers. The profiteers came among the raw material and commodity producers."

There is a challenge. There is a statement of either fact or an untruth. Profits are always determined after all expenses are paid in any enterprise. It doesn't make any difference whether it be the farmer, the munitions manufacturer, or the bank.

It isn't necessarily a question of whether the unit price paid for any article is more or less. It isn't necessarily a question of whether the unit selling price for any article has increased or decreased.

But the question arises and is determined by the net results, after all expenses are paid and the goods sold. It is entirely possible for a manufacturer to actually increase the rate he pays for raw material and decrease the price he asks for the finished article, and still make more money by reason of the fact that his quantity has increased.

To illustrate, today a man might sell a million pounds of ammunition, on which he makes one cent a pound. Next week he sells ten million pounds of ammunition, on which he makes one-half a cent a pound, and his firm has made, net, five times as much in the second transaction as in the first.

In the second case, he may have paid more for his raw materials and sold his finished product for less, per unit, but with the much larger amount sold, he has actually made more money. This undoubtedly must have been the case with the Du Ponts, for let us examine into the actual figures to see whether his statement will bear the gauge of truth.

In 1914, the Du Pont company had a net earning of $4,997,000. The next year—this, mark you, was during the World war when the other nations were at war, and we were selling them ammunition—1915, their profits were $86,409,424. In 1916, their profits were $82,107,000. In 1917, the year we entered the war, they were $49,258,661. And in 1918, the year the war closed, their profits were $43,098,000.

Now note—the total assets of the Du Pont company in 1913 were $74,000,000. Two of these war years the Du Pont company made more than the total original assets of the company in 1913.

With these tremendous increases in assets, the Du Pont company has acquired a controlling interest in some 30 domestic and foreign corporations engaged in the chemical and dye industry. They have acquired ten million shares of General Motors stock, of which now this company owns nearly 25 per cent of the voting stock, or, to be exact, 23.45 per cent.

Last year, the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours company had 14 wholly-owned subsidiary companies and 18 partially-owned subsidiary companies, besides direct investments in others.

Now if the farmers of this country had increased their total assets during the war, in a similar manner to the Du Pont company, the agricultural population of the United States would today simply be fighting with the Du Pont company over the bare bones that would be left to the rest of the population.

Some may think that we are exaggerating possibly as to what would happen to the farmer if he had the same experience as the Du Pont company. Let us see!

The Du Pont company started in 1913, the year before the war broke, with assets of $74,000,000. Its total assets in 1918, the year the war closed, were $308,000,000. This, mark you, was besides the dividends. It had multiplied a little over four-fold.

Now let us notice the total value of all agricultural assets before the World war broke out. We have not the figures available for 1913 or 1914, but we have for the regular census year of 1910. The total agricultural assets had doubled from 1900 to 1910, that is, in ten years they had risen from $20,429,000,000 to $40,991,000,000 in 1910.

There unquestionably, therefore, had been a very considerable increase between 1910 and 1913, certainly not less than five billions of dollars, making, in round numbers, $46,000,000,000 the total value of agricultural land, buildings, implements and machinery and live stock in 1913.

Now if the farmers had done as well as the Du Pont company—if they had been profiteering in like manner—the total value of their property at the close of the war, or 1918, would have been $190,000,000,000. We have not the figures for 1918, but we have the figures for two years later, 1920, and the total assets of all the agricultural people in the country were $77,023,000,000.

They had increased, as a matter of fact, from the period from 1910 to 1920, that is, during the war, less than the ratio that they had made from 1900 to 1910. During the period of the war, for the entire ten years, their increase had been about 90 per cent, while in the ten years before the war, the increase had been 100 per cent. But during the four years of the war, the assets of the Du Ponts had increased 400 per cent.

In other words, the war years had decreased the proportionate earnings of the farmer, while it had multiplied many-fold the earnings of the Du Pont company. If the farmer had increased at the same ratio, his total holdings would have been more than half of all the property in the country.

He not only would have owned the farms, but he would have owned practically all the business places in his trading centers, including the banks. He would have been able to do as the Du Pont company has done. We would suggest to the auditor of the Du Pont company he had better revamp his figures.

And incidentally we might say that it is the munition makers, in their whole international aspect, who are on trial now. If the Du Ponts later want to indict the farmers and put them on trial for producing while the rest were destroying, we can take that up.

THE NON-TALKING MAN FROM INDIA

Ames Irani, the non-talking man from India, who has been travelling around the world, landed in New York the other day on his way back to India. This Indian gentleman made a vow nine years ago that he would not speak another word as long as he lived. He belongs to a Zoroastrian cult of sun-worshippers.

Thus far he has succeeded in keeping his vow. Even the customs inspectors could not get him to talk. Ames simply pointed to the letters of the alphabet to make his declaration and to answer questions. His secretary attended to everything else.

We are not informed by the news dispatch why he made the vow in the first place. But most of us know of people who would confer a great benefit upon their friends and upon the world if they would take such a vow. We have heard of the man who could be silent in seven different languages. He must have been a very wise man—one who spoke only when he had something worthwhile to say.

There would not be much said in this world if men spoke only when they had something to say. It is interesting to speculate as to what kind of a world this would be if men spoke only under such circumstances.

Just consider what our political campaigns would be like. The halls of congress would be a very much different place from what they are. And what would be the status of things in the corner grocery, and the clubs, and the sewing societies?

Talleyrand, the French statesman, once said that language was invented to conceal thought. Ames Irani has it all over the man who uses language to conceal thought. He simply says nothing. But he must do a heap of thinking which would be very interesting if it ever found expression in speech.

Fun From Fossils
Christian Science Monitor

The famed and fossilized dinosaur eggs found in the Gobi Desert some years ago are feeling very low-spirited and it is all the fault of Harvard. Until quite recently they enjoyed patriarchal distinction by virtue of their age. With 100,000,000 years behind them, they naturally felt that they were the "antiques" of all antique eggs.

Now an expedition sent out by the Harvard University Museum of Comparative Zoology brings from the Permian Red Beds of north central Texas a fossil egg so ancient that it puts the Gobi eggs relatively in the "strictly fresh" class. Sadly they consider humiliating estimates which declare that when they were laid by Asiatic dinosaurs the old fossil down in Texas had already passed his 125,000,000th birthday. It is easy to appreciate how the Gobis feel. Everybody knows how touchy eggs are about their age.

Eggs have a hard time. They have to be either very old, it would seem, or very young, to be really popular. Nobody loves a middle-aged one. Consider the case of the rather timid young man who was spending a week-end in the home of his employer. His dilly-dallying at the breakfast table caused his hostess to inquire if his egg wasn't good. Hard pressed, he apologetically remarked that it wasn't "very new." That was really a nice way to put it. Perhaps the super-fossil from Texas will exercise equal delicacy toward the youngsters from the Gobi.

Incidentally, the discovery is just another proof that one never can tell what surprise Harvard will spring. One day she will send an expedition down to New Haven and discover how a certain curious egg made of pipskin is deposited under the goal posts of the Yale Bowl.

On Hero-Making
The San Diego Union

"The fourth officer and a member of the crew of the rescue ship Jean Jado also were lost." This sentence tacked to the end of a press bulletin describing a North Atlantic sea rescue touches upon one of the curious features of the public attitude toward these episodes. It has become a settled convention to hail the captain of the rescuing ship as the hero of the occasion. Yet when conditions are really bad he actually is only a minor character in the drama.

We have to desire to question the seamanship or the courage of the Jean Jado's captain. He was in full charge on the spot and in all probability, like dozens of other seamen on similar occasions, he lived up to the traditions of his calling. Nevertheless, it was the officer who took that lifeboat alongside of a plunging, disabled wreck who gambled his knowledge of seamanship against appalling long odds. If he had won he would have been congratulated, perhaps offered a medal or a watch. His superior who leaned over the bridge railing watching his struggle would have been hailed as the outstanding hero of the occasion.

This individual looting—and his obituary is a single line in the news recording his death.

The next time a ship captain makes a triumphant entry into New York we hope the crowd remembers this—and spares a glance for the man who made the celebration possible.

Ingenuity In West
The Oakland Tribune

On the word of John E. Burchand 2nd, who writes in the Technology Review, it may be accepted that Yankee ingenuity, inventive genius, is moving West and has enviable foothold in California.

Studying 10,000 patents listed in the Official Gazette he draws some conclusions which he is careful to qualify. It is true that many patents credited to corporations within one state are the result of research work done by employed men in many others.

Yet there are some general deductions which come out of the analysis. Of 890 patents issued to Californians, for instance, 27 per cent were for gadgets, traditionally the distinctive product of Yankee ingenuity and Yankee tinkering. They are the product, not of the laboratory, but of the fellow who "fools around with an idea" until he has something to show for it. The handy man who is interested in gadgets, says the writer in the technological journal, has moved to California in large numbers.

BACKING UP THE WEATHER MAN

Who declare that wild animals cannot predict the weather.

Do not put any faith in a ground-hog.
Do not anchor your trust to a bear;
Do not fancy a coon
Never ventures too soon
From the hole he employs for a lair.
These creatures are dumb in their thinking.
They cannot discuss things together,
And they don't stand a chance
To give—in advance—
Any adequate dope on the weather.

The thickness of a hair on a squirrel
Doesn't tell him it's going to be cold;
His nose doesn't know
If it's going to snow,
Though he may be a dozen years old.
He never comes forth from his hide-out
Till mushy and soft is the snow;
He hasn't a bit
Of real judgment or wit—
There is little he really does know.

The Weather Department is nettled
Because people think badgers are seers
And can easily see
What the weather may be
In the course of the next thirty years.
And I am inclined to believe them
And distrust zoological groups;
I have had quite enough
Of their forecasting stuff,
I will never be one of their dupes.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

An idealistic country is one where a man is called a hard-bodded cynic if he doesn't like boloney.

Fable: Once a college lost the big game on a close decision and next year it agreed to use the same referee.

In the old days, success depended on how a man could do instead of how many.

Yes, the old-fashioned man placed woman on a pedestal. And then left her there when we went out to have a good time.

What a fall! Women used to be classed with children and idiots. Now they are classed with men.

"MY WIFE DOESN'T UNDERSTAND ME." USUALLY MEANS, "SHE DOESN'T UNDERSTAND HOW MUCH PETTING I NEED."

The fault in a woman's desire to be like men is the kind of men she picks out to be like.

Middle-age is that indefinite period when you think you need more exercise because you need more rest.

If a Texas man really has developed a turkey with two necks, as some papers say, it won't be useful. No family has two old Dads.

AMERICANISM: Laughing at the sucker who killed the goose that laid golden eggs; selling foreigners machines to make the things they once bought from us.

It isn't poverty that makes bandits. A poor man couldn't save enough money to buy a machine gun.

Public enemy No. 2: The one who provides the machine guns for No. 1.

Words that give warning of death: "Stop, look and listen," and "It isn't loaded."

IF HE IS WEAK AND TIMID, HIS ONLY CHANCE IS TO BE A GENTLEMAN AND NOT BELIEVE IN ROUGH STUFF.

Maybe the power of the press is gone, but name an official who made the reporters sore and kept his job.

Incompetent President: Any President who happens to be on the job when you aren't making money.

You can tell a four-flusher. He never praises a show or anything least you think him too easily impressed.

The parrot is a typical moron. Once taught, it never quits saying "Oh, yeah!" and "So what?"

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "IF JAPAN BUILDS A GREAT NAVY," SAID THE PATRIOT, "OUR ALERT GOVERNMENT WILL ALWAYS KEEP AHEAD OF HER."

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLEN FRANK

THE INVISIBLE GOVERNMENT

There are two groups in the United States that need re-education: (1) the business conservatives, and (2) the political liberals.

Sometime ago I wrote for the amusement of private group a series of letters from dead statesmen to their descendants in this generation. In this pile of unpublished letters is one from George Washington in which I had Washington make a statement which seems to me pertinent to business conservatives and political liberals just now.

"I attended last weekend, at an Elysian country estate, a house-party of the framers of the Federal Constitution," I imagined Washington's writing. "By Monday morning we were unanimously agreed that, when the Constitution was drafted, we failed utterly to foresee the development of the complicated, technical, industrialized United States of today. It was beyond our prophetic genius to realize that one day the actual seat of government would shift from executive office and legislative chamber to factories, banks, stock exchanges, labor headquarters and like centers of social authority, social power and social control. And yet the fact is that the real rule of the United States, the power that can make or break the nation, the power that can determine the development and dictate the destiny of the American people has long been operating through economic rather than political forms. In this fact lies the overshadowing political problem of contemporary America."

"And yet all I can see, save for a few heartening exceptions, is an obstinate conservatism struggling to invest the Constitutional forms with an artificial sanctity we who created them never intended, and an obsolete liberalism which, in the presence of the new forces of a corporate and technical age, can think of nothing but to damn them as an invisible and reprehensible government that must be harassed and hamstrung. I suspect that politics will become increasingly irrelevant in America, and that your army of non-voters will grow, unless you throw both your obstinate conservatism and your obsolete liberalism on the scrapheap and develop in their stead a political realism."

"Your old political forms must be made flexible enough to take in these new economic forces as organic elements of the going concern of government. Here is today a fatal hiatus between the political activities and the life processes of the American social order. These vast new forces of your technical civilization must be made a mainstay instead of a menace to your government."

"You are challenged to a radical readjustment of your government to make it fit the technical civilization of today instead of the almost pastoral civilization for which the fathers designed it."

"It will be in meeting this challenge—if it is met—that the next creative political movement in the United States will be born."

I wrote this before the New Deal was born, but it still stands, I think, as the essence of the problem the time puts to political leadership.

THE REAL PERFORMER

"How is Archibald doing in school?"

"O, he is simply marvelous. Never anything below an A."

"Wonderful. How does he do it?"

"I'm sure I don't know. Never seems to need to study. It comes natural. How about Dudley?"

"He's getting along but nothing like that. He gets a few A's, some B pluses and an occasional B. He gets along nicely though. I suppose we ought to be satisfied."

"O, my yes. They can't all be geniuses, can they?"

No, they can't. A genius is rare, so rare that we don't find more than one in a million, if that one is found. That fact that a child gets A in all his subjects does not make him a genius. Genius goes beyond ratings. It shows that he is good at mastering book lessons and that usually indicates that he has a high intelligence. Sometimes, though, when we look carefully at the A boy and more carefully at the one who gets a good mixture of marks we find an interesting situation.

Does the A boy harness his knowledge to any sort of work? Is he content, with mastering the subject matter day after day or does he put aside his book and go to work to make something he needs or would like to own? Does he take any part in the social life of his group? Can he play games? Can he cooperate in any way with his classmates and does he enter into their activities with interest?

You can be certain that the boy with the mixed ratings, those varying from A to B, all grades in between, is interested in many things besides his lessons. What are those interests and how does he apply them? Is he cooperating with his group? Is he creating things? Is he socially alert and aggressive?

The child with the high I. Q., the one with the perfect report card, may be on the road to high success. And he may not. This lad who sometimes gets an A and at others gets a B, may be on the high road too. And he may not. The chances are in favor of the second one, however. The more interests a child has, the more work he accomplishes, the more varied things he does well, the greater his possibilities in any field of his choosing.

Knowledge locked in a mind is useless. A one track education is dangerously limited. The safest sort of education is the sort that opens the greatest number of doors to human activity. Unless the power gained in learning is harnessed and driven into action that results in achievement of what use is it? The fact that a boy gets A on his card is not going to put any potatoes on the market. If he can put a grade A power into action the chances are that his potatoes will be about the best on the market.

I am accontenting this A child because the one with the mixed ratings usually gets more attention than he needs. He can do with less. The perfect child needs help to get into action. He is too often inclined to stay in his study and let the world of activity go by. That is why many an honor man is never heard of after graduation. These are valuable youths. We cannot afford to waste them. We must find a way of helping them to harness their power for their own good and our own. They ought to be leaders, in action.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)

Here and There

In spite of the fact that its skin will stop a bullet, flies cause a rhinoceros much discomfort. The flies know just where to bite, crawling into the creases of the armor-like hide, where the skin is thin and soft.

The Alaskan brown bear is the largest on the American continent, exceeding even the famous grizzly in size.

The Franklin tree has never been found anywhere in the world except on a few acres of Georgia swamps. Cuttings from this tree have been taken to England and the city park of Philadelphia and are all now left extant.

The brain of an elephant is no larger than that of a man.
